MERCHANTS TO CONSIDER NEW STORE HOURS

Citywide Meeting Monday Night To Take Formal Action.

WORK UNDER NEW CODE

Group Hold Preliminary Session; Recommendation Made for Change.

[illegible] Marion merchants, at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, recommended opening and closing hours for Marion stores under the new retail code and arranged for a citywide meeting of retailers Monday night for action on their proposal.

Seeking a schedule all merchants could comply with, the group recommended that stores open at 8:30 a. m. and close at 5:30 p. m. on week days except Saturday, open at 9 a. m. and close at 9 p. m. on Saturdays. This schedule, it was explained, would bring Marion stores into a class of retailers listed in the new retail code as operating from 56 to 63 hours a week.

The code, for stores operating from 56 to 63 hours weekly, permits employes to work not more than 44 hours a week, not more than nine hours a day and not more than six days a week.

Retailers here are expected to begin operations on a new schedule of hours beginning a week from Monday, when the retail code becomes effective.

At a districtwide meeting in August when Marion retailers signed blanket agreements with President Roosevelt, a majority of Marion retailers began opening at 9 a. m. and closing at 5 p. m. on all week days except Saturday, and opening at 9 a. m. and closing at 9 p. m. on Saturdays. This schedule is to be rearranged to take advantage of the more liberal terms of the retail code regarding hours of operation, merchants explained.

The retail code was drawn specifically for variety, mail order, music, retail clothing, shoe, dry goods, furniture and hardware merchants, a copy of the code studied yesterday shows.

Honor Paid Ditch Digger Who Spent Life Aiding Poor

By The Associated Press

MARYSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 27—Jeff Monroe, a ditch digger who uses his meager earnings to brighten the lives of others poorer than himself, was buried amid pomp and ceremony that befitted a king.

Marysville turned out en masse yesterday for the rites. Leading the mourners was Mayor P. L. Roby, who ordered the courthouse closed for two hours and who acted as a pallbearer.

The First Christian church was packed and the expensive casket in which Jeff, the ditch digger, was laid to rest was surrounded by a mountain of flowers. Two pastors paid tribute to the life he had led.

Monroe spent most of his 41 years laboring in ditches and his last official act was to contribute his last day's pay to the welfare board. It was his Christmas night custom for 10 years to attire himself in the costume of St. Nicholas and distribute toys.

The procession of mourners that followed the casket to the cemetery was two miles long and included 17 carloads of Omahans who had motored here to honor Jeff.

MILK PRODUCERS TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT

County Association Hopes To Reach Agreement on Uniform Sales Program.

Hoping to carry out instructions of the state milk marketing commission by reaching an agreement on uniform methods of selling milk to dairy companies, the Marion County Milk Producers' association will hold a public meeting Monday at 8 p. m. in the common pleas court room.

If such an agreement is made, E. A. Williams, an association officer, said, it probably will mean the establishment of uniform prices paid milk producers by the dairies.

This will be the second annual meeting of the association, with three directors to be elected. The directors will meet later to elect officers.

All producers in the county were urged by Williams to attend the meeting. W. T. Owen, association president, will be in charge.

Producers of the county were advised to come to an agreement on selling methods when they met in Columbus a short time ago with the state milk marketing commission and dairymen from the [illegible]

RELIEF CENTER TO BE MOVED

Abel Silent on New Location; Shift Expected Within Few Days.

TWO ASSISTANTS ADDED

Director Issues Instructions To Townships Appealing for County Aid.

The county relief headquarters will be moved from the Davids Street school building in the near future, John Abel, county relief director, said today.

Abel did not announce the location of the new headquarters but is expected to within a few days. He said the change, not to be made for about two weeks, will bring the new headquarters closer to the center of the city.

Whatever clothing supply remains when the change is made will be taken into the new relief center, Abel said.

Speaks at LaRue

At a meeting of township trustees in the LaRue school building last night, Abel announced that whenever a township exhausts its resources for handling relief cases, it may apply to the county relief setup for aid. The indigent cases in the township then will be handled in the same manner as the city cases, he explained. Within 10 days Abel said he expects at least two townships to apply for turning their relief cases over to the county.

Abel also explained the relief program to trustees. He was accompanied by Capt. John Rea and a Mr. Thomas, field men for the state relief commission, who are here to assist in setting up the county organization.

The relief director also announced the addition of two temporary assistants as the relief center, J. W. Eichelberger of Marion as an investigator, and Miss Helen Kohn of Cleveland as case supervisor. Miss Kohn, who came here from the Cleveland relief commission where she had several years' experience, will direct the census now being taken of relief families. Eichelberger, the second new investigator to be taken on, will be employed in collecting census information.

Census Explained

The census, Abel explained, is a complete family record of all persons on the relief lists. A complete check also is being made, he said, to determine the eligibility for relief of all persons now receiving aid.

A plan to eliminate the necessity of persons on relief coming to the relief center for their grocery orders is now being worked out, Abel said. This plan, if completed, will result in all grocery orders being left at various grocery stores, wherever the recipients indicate. They can then come to the store for their provisions. It will eliminate, Abel said, the hours of waiting in line and confusion at the relief center.

States Seek To End Activities of Fugitive Convict Band.

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 27—Lesser criminals are likely to face bullets in Indiana, Al G. Feeney, state director of public safety warned today as he prepared to assign 630 national guardsmen to strategic posts in the state's war against a marauding band of fugitive convicts. He issued orders to "shoot to kill."

"Those comporting themselves as desperadoes may well understand that law enforcement officials have no time to distinguish between those who are attempting to trade on the reputation of violence gangs and those actually sought," Feeney said.

A few hours after Feeney had issued his warning Arthur Tuggle, 24, was shot and killed by Arthur Low, an Indianapolis policeman who was investigating a report of neighborhood prowlers.

The officer said Tuggle was found in the vicinity of the house where prowlers had been reported. He said he called on Tuggle to halt but the young man fled. Pursuing him the officer fired with a shotgun and Tuggle fell fatally wounded.

Ohio Renews Drive Against Bandits

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., Oct. 27—Western Ohio authorities renewed their drive against a band of escaped convicts and suspected bank robbers on three fronts today.

Prosecutor E. M. Botkin of Allen county expected the grand jury to indict three persons he accuses of harboring John Dillinger and six men who freed him from the Allen county jail. Murder warrants have been issued against the men in the slaying of Sheriff Jess Sarber at the time of Dillinger's liberation.

Police said Dillinger, the men who freed him, and other escaped convicts now being sought in Indiana by the National Guard are responsible for a series of midwest bank robberies.

At Wapakoneta the Auglaize county grand jury indicted Fred Pierpont of Leipsic, on a charge of aiding and abetting in a burglary, in connection with a bank robbery at St. Mary's, O. American Legion guards are aiding in the watch maintained over the county jail there.

Pierpont's brother Harry, police say, is a member of the robbery band.

At Dayton police who hunted the participants in a $9,000 jewelry store holdup arrested two men and questioned them in the store holdup and bank robberies in Indiana.

Although their descriptions did not fit those of any fugitives from the Indiana state prison, officials said, their fingerprints were sent to Indianapolis and Washington. The suspects gave their names as Raymond Earl Randall, 18, of Chicago, and Johnson Thomas, 19, of Opelousas, La. They denied connection with the crimes.

CONVICTED BANKER TO SEEK NEW TRIAL

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 27—Arguments on a motion for a new trial will be heard next week by Judge Arthur H. Day, in whose court late yesterday C. Stirling Smith and Dale T. Winslow, former president and auditor, respectively, of the closed Standard Trust bank, were convicted of embezzling funds from the bank.

Judge Day, sitting as both judge and jury, found them guilty of embezzling $4,813.29 contrary to provisions of the state code against embezzlement and that they had violated the general banking statute by embezzling $14,439.89.

The trial of Smith and Winslow was an outcome of investigations of the failure of the bank on Dec. 31, 1931.

Figuring the Cost

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 27—All the western states held a convention here in Los Angeles the other day on taxation to see what the running of the various states was costing 'em.

Well, they found it was costing 'em so much that they are talking now about letting Mexico have them back.

It's taken since (believe it was 1812) for us to realize Mexico won that war, but, like all conventions, it did nothing but hold a business meeting and pass some resolutions, then held a banquet and the waiters passed some cocktails, then they all went home and got ready to vote for the same politicians that put the last tax raise on 'em.

But a good time was had by all. Please pass the gravy.

Yours,

PRICE FIXING PLAN BEATEN

C. H. Isaly Leads Successful Fight Against Ice Cream Proposal.

CONE SIZE NOT LIMITED

Manufacturers Seek To Devise Plan for Submission To National Association.

Protests against ice cream price fixing at a meeting in Columbus yesterday of District No. 1 of the Ohio Ice Cream Manufacturers' association resulted in the proposal being referred back to a committee for further action.

Returning from the meeting, C. H. Isaly, manager of the Isaly Dairy Co., said than an effort to fix the size of ice cream cones had been voted down. Isaly was one of the leaders in this and the fight to eliminate price fixing. Clarence Bowe of the Bowe Ice Cream Co. also attended from here.

With a district victory in the fight for unrestricted cone size, Isaly said that an effort would be made to have the same plan adopted by the state and national associations so that a uniform plan may be submitted for the entire country.

Previous to the meeting yesterday, there was a general trend toward fixing the price of hand-packed ice cream at 50 cents a quart and 25 cents a pint. Isaly pointed out that this drastic price increase would cut down the market for the product to a great extent.

Shovel Employe for 48 Years Dies at Home

Charles W. Cummins, 77, who this year retired after serving the Marion Steam Shovel Co. for 48 years as head of its power plant, died early this afternoon at his home at 298 South High street. Death was due to complications which developed recently.

He was the oldest employe, in point of services, at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. when he retired last June due to failing health. He was employed in the power plant of the company on May 10, 1885, one and one-half years after the company had been started. He recently recalled that the company had built only two shovels when he went to work in the plant. He was then 29, having come to Marion from Pleasant township, where he was born Aug. 13, 1856. His parents were Hugh Cummins and Elizabeth Hopkins Cummins.

Paris Unaware as Lindy Slips Quietly into City

Modest American Flier Travels Over Familiar Streets Without Being Recognized by Crowds.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Oct. 27—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, slipping secretly into Paris to avoid another tumultuous hero's welcome, traveled today over familiar streets, completely unobserved by Parisians whose cheers six years ago abashed the modest flier.

No crowds swarmed at the doorstep when Lindbergh left the hotel Grillon guardedly and went by automobile to Les Mureaux to inspect the plane which brought the couple through a storm from Inverness, Scotland.

Mrs. Lindbergh likewise rode up the bustling Elysees, packed by a work-a-day throng despite leaden skies without even the chauffeurs in the surrounding traffic jam recognizing the eagerly-peering young woman as the famous ocean-flier's wife.

She was the curious one this time, watching the oblivious crowds on either side of the famous three-lined thoroughfare which glistened with rain.

Presence Kept Secret

While Mrs. Lindbergh was a luncheon guest at the home of Mrs. Nelson Dean Jay, wife of a member of the Morgan banking firm here, the colonel had lunch with two acquaintances at the hotel, where his incognito let no inkling of his plan of escape.

During his visit to Les Mureaux Lindbergh examined a pontoon stay rod which was repaired in London and decided to have a more thorough job done by native mechanics. Airport attendants were instructed to refuel the plane and keep it in readiness for departure at any time.

In contrast with his 1927 trip when he flew alone, he came out of the night shrouded foggy sky last night accompanied by Mrs. Lindbergh to alight at the Les Mureaux naval airport on the Seine, 25 miles west of here.

The Lindberghs, after sleeping until nearly 9 a. m. today had breakfast in their room, visited with American embassy officials, and laid plans for what the colonel was said to have described as a "few days" visit the first since his crossing in 1927.

"Certainly," Air Minister Cot told reporters "the aviator and his wife will remain four or five days in the capital where the Lindberghs can recall the hours of enthusiasm which marked the success of his magnificent trans-Atlantic flight."

OPPONENT SCORES 5-MILL TAX CUT

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 27—If the proposed constitutional amendment to limit real estate taxes to 10 mills is not defeated, Ohio may "consider itself hooked for many years to come," George V. Sheridan of Columbus, director of the Ohio council of retail merchants, told Youngstown merchants last night.

"The home owner," Sheridan said, "is a 'sucker' if he votes for the proposed amendment. Even if he got five mills relief—which he won't—he will pay from four to five times as much per year in sales tax or some other form of taxation."

REMODELLING IS STARTED

Contract for Fitting Out Store Room Awarded To Crock & McPeck.

Work of remodeling the first floor of the Warner & Edwards store at 136 West Center street into a master store of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. got under way this morning after a lease was signed last night.

The contract for the remodeling has been awarded to Crock & McPeck, a local firm. It calls for changes on the first floor and a new front.

The front will be constructed of colored tile and the plate glass display windows will be moved to a point even with the sidewalk, according to present plans. The color scheme on the front will be followed out on the interior.

Details of the lease and the amount of the contract were not revealed.

E. S. Muldoon of Columbus, district manager for the A. & P. company, said today that the most modern equipment will be installed in the new store. The California plan for displaying fruits and vegetables will be used with mechanical refrigeration plants for perishable products.

The store will be complete in every detail, handling meats, fruits and vegetables as well as staples.

The company at present operates three other stores in Marion. Mr. Muldoon said the company probably will not discontinue any of the other stores. He was unable to say how many persons would be employed in the store.

No date has been set for the opening. The new store will use both the first floor and basement, the latter providing storage space.

The remodeling program calls for no changes in the second and third floors. Owners of the building have not completed plans for the disposal of this space.

Gold Prices Get Another Boost in U.S.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—A price of $31.76 an ounce for Reconstruction corporation purchases of newly mined gold was announced today at the treasury, 22 cents higher than that of yesterday and 66 cents above the London quotation.

The price for the metal had been freshly advanced on the London market, to the equivalent of $31.10 an ounce on the basis of the $4.74½ valuation of the pound at the opening there.

The Roosevelt administration, with each successive daily quotation, has set the domestic price higher.

Wednesday, with the inauguration of this policy, a price of $31.36 was established, and yesterday it was $31.54.

These figures compared with the following world prices: $31.09, $31.06 and $31.10.

Administration officials would not reveal whether any particular formula had been prescribed for the determination of the daily figure.

As on yesterday and the day before, today's quotation was decided upon by Chairman Jesse Jones of the "Reconstruction corporation, and Henry Morgenthau Jr., representing the president, meeting with acting secretary Dean Acheson at the treasury.

Recovery Head Says He Will Turn Case Over To Attorney General.

DENIED RIGHT TO BID

Will Set Date on Which Data Must Be Furnished Auto C. of C.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—Hugh S. Johnson said today that if Henry Ford fails to submit figures requested by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce within the time to be set: "I'll turn the case over to the attorney general."

At a press conference, the NRA executive intimated the deadline would be Nov. 7; but cautioned he was not definitely certain that that date would be the one fixed.

However, he said, while a violation of that kind probably would be conclusive evidence of non-compliance with the automobile code on the part of Ford, he does not consider the manufacturer now eligible to bid on government contracts.

He asserted in response to questions:

"No, I don't think he's eligible because Edsel Ford told me when I was in Detroit that they would never consent to any collective bargaining."

Plan To Reject Bid

Johnson disclosed that Robert Fechner, director of the Civilian Conservation corps, had informed him that a low bid by a Ford dealer for a large number on trucks for his organization would be rejected.

Asked "what about the Lincoln?" the quick-answering Johnson shot back.

"You mean the Lincoln I ride around in? Well, we are going to trade that in for a Cadillac."

He was particularly emphatic that he would not let any time elapse, after definite evidence of code violation by Ford came to him, in taking action against the manufacturer.

In regard to collective bargaining by Ford, he said he was not familiar with circumstances at the Edgewater, New Jersey, assembly plant where strikers were received by Ford officials and their demands were forwarded to Dearborn for action by the company.

Regarded As "Final"

He indicated, however, that he regarded the statement which he said Edsel Ford had made to him as final.

In connection with the C. C. C. automobile contract, Johnson was asked whether the fact that the bid was submitted by a Ford dealer would not make a difference.

"I've taken a position that a great big billion dollar corpora-

Injustice Charged by Ford Company

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 27—The Ford Motor Co., today described as "an act of injustice," the statement of Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator that he would "turn the case over to the attorney general" if Henry Ford fails to submit figures requested by the national automobile chamber of commerce, under the terms of the NRA auto code.

Charging Johnson with assuming the "airs of a dictator," a company statement said that Johnson "should fortify himself with evidence that Henry Ford has refused compliance with government requirements."

The statement read:

"Mr. Johnson's vocabulary has got him down again. Before assuming the airs of a dictator, he should fortify himself with evidence that Henry Ford has refused compliance with government requirements.

"The public has known the Ford Motor Co. for 30 years and is not dependent on Mr. Johnson for information concerning it.

"It is an act of injustice for Mr. Johnson to intimate that any refusal has been made of any proper demand on the Ford Motor Co., especially since Mr. Johnson knows that even his original signers have not had time to file their reports, which he charges this company with refusing.

"We suggest a code of fair publicity for Mr. Johnson's interviews."

Health Department Warns Against Carbon Monoxide

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 27.—With winter almost at hand, the state health department has issued another of its annual warnings against that treacherous agent of death—carbon monoxide.

Last year, this unseen, untasted, unsmelled menace claimed 79 lives in Ohio, department records reveal, while scores of persons were treated in hospitals and in their homes after inhaling small quantities of the poison.

In its endeavor to reduce casualties from the gas, health authorities warned particularly against flueless gas heaters [illegible] are used in many homes. [illegible] of monoxide poisoning [illegible] close that these heaters were responsible for a great [illegible] of the gas cases.

Warning to Motorists.

Also said Dr. H. G. [illegible] state health [illegible] many [illegible] their automobile [illegible] with the garage [illegible] most cases [illegible] death. During the [illegible] June 30, he said, this type of mishap caused 30 casualties, 27 of which were fatal.

"There's one simple preventive for this type of poisoning: Nobody [illegible] run the motor in a closed garage," said the director.

He warned also against defective burners on gas appliances. They should be inspected regularly, more particularly at the beginning of the winter season. He also noted that even a properly adjusted burner may generate the deadly fumes, particularly at night when the gas pressure increases, causing the flame to touch metal parts of the appliance, thus producing improper combustion.

How It Attacks

Explaining the mechanics of carbon monoxide poisoning, the department explained that the gas, when inhaled, has no irritating effect on the lungs. It enters the blood stream 250 times as readily as does oxygen, and a comparatively small amount of carbon monoxide will cause death—even as small a quantity as one part in 1000 will prove fatal within a few hours, experts say.

In cases of exposure, the department advises immediate action. The victim should be removed from the room immediately, or the windows thrown wide open. The person poisoned by the gas should have plenty of fresh air, but must be kept as warm as possible.

If breathing has stopped, the department advises immediate artificial respiration. Often in more severe cases, inhalations of oxygen mixed with carbon dioxide are required along with the artificial respiration.

Managing Money: A New Job For The New Deal

NO. 1—KEEPING THE DOLLAR AND COMMODITY PRICES IN STEP

EDITOR'S NOTE: How does "managed money"—the monetary policy that President Roosevelt has pointed out for the United States—fit in with the national recovery program? This is the first of four articles concerning the part it may play.

The purpose of the plan is to manage the purchasing power of the dollar through establishment of a dollar [illegible] and the purchase and sale of gold in world markets to [illegible] commodity prices.

The administration at Washington has decided in effect that the producer and farmer must have a higher dollar price for his wares.

They may raise or lower the dollar price of gold at will.

If more dollars are necessary to purchase a given amount of gold, then more dollars will be required to purchase a given amount of any commodity.

And in the same manner, it is argued, the government will have an effective check on prices reaching too high a peak. If prices become too high, the government could reduce the number of dollars necessary to purchase an ounce of gold.

Not Only Domestic

The stabilization plan also can be carried into world markets through purchase and sale of gold to establish dollar levels in foreign exchange.

This new price establishment plan for commodities tops many indirect plans since March 4 when a new administration took charge.

Most far-reaching in the number of persons directly concerned is NRA. Through this plan the administration proposed to increase employment and payrolls, meaning in increase in purchasing power of the consumer. Any increased demand has a price raising effect.

Through the Agricultural Adjustment Administration thousands of acres of farm land were retired from production. Any decrease in supply has a price increasing effect.

Banking laws were adjusted to provide credit expansion which leads to an increase in the velocity of money circulation.

The public works administration pumped millions into construction channels, a procedure which led to increased employment and consumer purchasing power.

Debt-ridden home owners and farm owners received aid through special branches of the government.

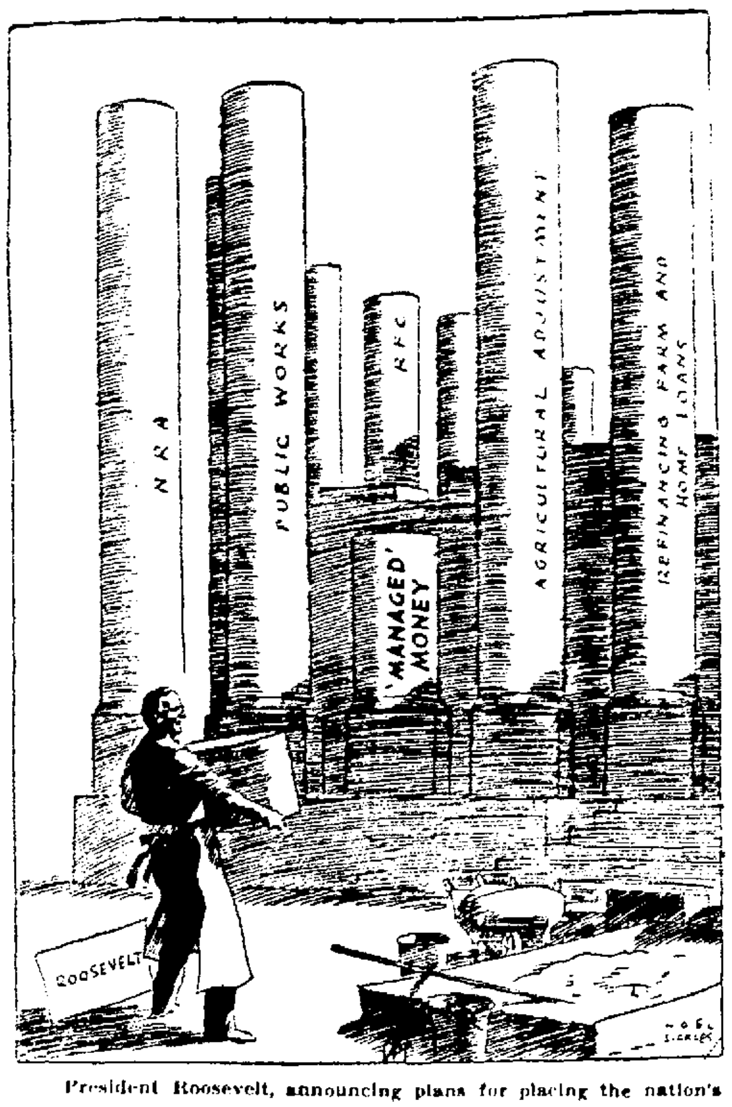
Russian Trade Gains Seen

Conferences recently called by the President with officials of the U. S. S. R. may lead to recognition of Russia, and resumption of diplomatic relations with the Communist nation after 16 years points to valuable trade agreements.

The administration sought trade increases through establishing machinery directed at freeing more than a billion dollars in closed banks.

Recent open market purchases by the government of farm products to aid the needy have increased prices in many quarters.

But this final plan of control through dollar management is a direct means to a predetermined end.



President Roosevelt, announcing plans for placing the nation's finance on a "managed money" basis, likened the new policy to an important pillar in the nation's economic structure.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY HELD BY GRANGE

Mrs. Clara Mitchell and Miss Wilda Smithson won costume awards at the public Hallowe'en party given last night by United grange at the Claridon school building. Contests, in charge of Omer Klinefelter, were won by Mrs. Stella Trout, Mrs. Helen Mautz, Mrs. Mae Smith, Miss Veta Seas, Miss Dorothy Ruth and Miss Corrine Seas.

Refreshments were served to more than 100 members and guests. In a business meeting Calvin Baldinger, legislative agent, gave a talk on the amendments to be voted on Nov. 7. A sixth and seventh degree banquet Nov. 15 at Hotel Marion and a Pomona meeting Nov. 4 at Montgomery grange at DeCliff, were announced.

CLASS HOLDS SESSION

RADNOR, Oct. 27—The Margaret Price Sunday school class met with Mrs. D. H. Thomas Tuesday evening. She was assisted by Mrs. J. H. Warner and Mrs. Gale Russell. A chapter of the prayer book was reviewed by Mrs. Gale Russell. It was decided to hold a penny supper. Stunts were in charge of Mrs. Howard Worline and Mrs. Clarence Fox. Prize winners were Mrs. R. E. Jones, Mrs. Leslie Hilliard and Mrs. Edward Butts.

Soldering irons are kept at the correct heats automatically on a new electric stand.

"HARD TIME" PARTY IS HELD AT WALDO

Special to The Star

WALDO, Oct. 27—The members of the Luther League of this place held a "hard time" social in the auditorium of the school building Wednesday night. All wore "old clothes" and carried dinner pails from which lunch was eaten. Former members were guests. A social program was enjoyed. Miss Edna Reed, Mrs. Mary Augenstein and Woodrow Kaelber had charge of the contests after which the boys played volley ball and the girls basketball.

The women of the Waldo M. E. church and aid society met Wednesday and cleaned the church in the morning, and enjoyed a pot-luck dinner. Later the monthly meeting of the aid was held with the president, Mrs. Arthur Bender, presiding.

Miss Esther Laucher and William Laucher entertained the fifth and sixth grades of the Waldo school and the teacher, Miss Edna Reed, at the home of their parents at a masquerade party Tuesday night.

The house was decorated in keeping with the Hallowe'en spirit. Games and contests were enjoyed, prizes going to Louise Augenstein, Richard Retterer, Donna Belle Cook, Norma Mouser, Glenna Rush, Donald Heiby and Mildred Collins.

She Feared She Had a Serious Disorder

What She Really Had Was "Acid Stomach" Easily Corrected

Authorities now tell us that one of the frequent penalties of middle-age is acid stomach. A rebellion of the stomach after years of faulty diet.

If you have Acid Stomach, you can easily trace it. Headaches, stomach pains after eating, "gas," "upsets," nausea are the usual indications.

To get rid of it, all you need do is this:

Take—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed. Or—you can take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets; substituting one tablet for each teaspoonful of the liquid and get the same result.

Try It—You Will Be Amazed

Try this and, chances are, it will make a great difference in your life. For this small dosage of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia acts to neutralize the stomach acids that cause your distress.

After-meal pains and discomfort go. You feel freedom from dull headaches. That "afternoon fag"—you think is depletion or "nerves" disappears. You feel like another person.

When you buy, be sure to get the REAL article — Genuine PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia, the kind doctors endorse. Always ask for it by the name PHILLIPS'—for all "milk of magnesia" is not alike.

CHESTERFIELD CIGARETTES
ARE A BALANCED BLEND OF THE FINEST AROMATIC TURKISH TOBACCO AND THE CHOICEST OF SEVERAL AMERICAN VARIETIES BLENDED IN THE CORRECT PROPORTION TO BRING OUT THE FINER QUALITIES OF EACH TOBACCO.
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

I keep coming back to that word "balanced" on the back of the Chesterfield package

YOU often hear the word balance—something is out of balance—top-heavy, not on an "even keel."

What you read, "Chesterfield Cigarettes are a balanced blend," means that the right amounts of the right kinds of tobacco are welded together; that is, home-grown tobaccos, the right kind, the right quantity—are blended and cross-blended with tobaccos from Turkey and Greece.

When these tobaccos are balanced one against the other, then you have a mild cigarette.

When they are in balance, then you have a better-tasting cigarette.

May we ask you to read again the statement on the back of the Chesterfield package?

May we ask you to try Chesterfield?

STATE ROAD PATROL TO AID CRIME FIGHT

White Expects New Officers To Help Quell Any Sudden Outbreaks.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 27 — Governor George White expects to utilize the new state highway patrol in meeting any extraordinary outbreaks of crime in the state.

The governor explained that the troopers will have no police authority of arrest in general crimes but could hold suspects on technical charges pending arrival of a qualified law enforcement officer.

Allocation of the 60 patrolmen provided by the legislative act will be state-wide thus setting up a huge net able to enmesh bands of criminals. Governor White expressed a hope that the patrol could be increased to a minimum of 100 men in the near future to provide a wider field for operations. The patrol probably will take the field about Nov. 15.

Eighty-three men are still in training at Camp Perry and the 60 best candidates will be selected early next week.

DAYTON, O., Oct. 27—Two robbers hiding behind Hallowe'en costume masks surprised John M Fisher, 80, jeweler, at his home in downtown Dayton today, beat him severely about the head and escaped with cash and jewels valued at approximately $9,000.

The bandits took $75 in cash and $3,000 in diamonds which Fisher had in his clothing and took jewelry and diamonds from an unlocked safe in the office, valued at about $6,000. OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Oct. 27—To a big house where a woman in black lives there came today messages from far and near—for it was the seventy-fifth anniversary of the birth of the late President Roosevelt.

Mrs. Roosevelt, the widow of the former President, who died in 1919, spent the day quietly receiving the tokens of remembrance and devotion. Heading a delegation in an annual pilgrimage to the hillside grave, Brig. Gen. Lucius R. Holbrook planned to place on the grave a wreath sent by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The nation celebrated navy day today—because Theodore Roosevelt was such a strong supporter of the navy.

DISSENSION ENTERS RANKS OF STRIKERS

By The Associated Press
Dissension apparently has entered the ranks of some farmers in the strike called by the National Farmers' Holiday association to boost prices.

An anti-holiday association was the object of a group of southwestern Iowa farmers. They met at Glenwood, and took preliminary steps yesterday to form an organization whose business would be to keep farm products going to market.

Meanwhile in Wisconsin where the cooperative milk pool went ahead with preparations for a milk embargo, more dairies were closed and others were expected to shut down later.

tion can not hide behind a $10,000 company," Johnson replied, adding, however, that some legal technicality might conceivably alter the situation.

Enforcement Plans

Commenting in an interview on the bids for trucks for the CCC, Director Fechner called attention to President Roosevelt's executive order of Aug. 10 and said his position was that "Mr. Ford is not within the executive order requiring all manufacturers who supply materials to comply with the (NRA) law."

Officials of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce told reporters that although the chamber is the constituted authority for collection of the business statistics required by the NRA, it is not their understanding that it is their responsibility to fix a deadline for manufacturers to comply.

They said that if any deadline is fixed, it probably will be by recovery administration officials, but that thus far the only deadline has been "a reasonable time."

BATTING FOR YOUNG

Ex-Major Leaguer Gets Help in Fight for Home Town.

By The Associated Press
CANTON, O., Oct. 27—U. S. Representative William R. Thom of Canton agreed today to go to bat for Cy Young, famous pitcher for the old Cleveland Naps of two decades ago, who is fearful that Uncle Sam is going to wipe his home village, Peoli, in Tuscarawas county, O., off the map by abolishing its postoffice.

"When I started big league pitching," Young related, "nobody knew such a place as Peoli existed. In the days of my greatest success I took particular joy in telling the fans and newspapers that I hailed from Peoli—and was proud of it!

"That advertisement put the town on the map. Now they threaten to take away our 100-year-old postoffice for economy's sake, and I don't like it, and neither do my home folks."

Since his retirement from baseball Young has been a gentleman farmer at Peoli.

MOTHER, DAUGHTERS PERISH IN FLAMES

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 27—A dash of kerosene over the dying embers of a fire, poured by a mother who wanted to keep her children warm, resulted in an explosion and fire which took the lives of the mother and two of her children.

Mrs. Ima Foster, 24, died early today from burns received in the explosion. Betty Jean Foster, 4, and Dolores, one, were fatally burned by flaming oil and the blaze which set fire to the home.

UNRULY ARABS IN FIGHT WITH POLICE

By The Associated Press
JAFFA, Palestine, Oct. 27—Police today fired upon large unruly crowds of Arabs demonstrating against a recent increase in Jewish immigration, killing an undetermined number and wounding a number of them. A number of police also were injured.

The situation was tense all morning, but it increased after the midday prayers when large crowds flocked from the mosques determined to form a procession which authorities had forbidden.

The situation at one time looked ugly, but it was believed under control although desultory firing continued.

OHIO FIREMAN KILLED AS WALL COLLAPSES

Another Injured Seriously While Fighting $40,000 Blaze at Ravenna.

By The Associated Press
RAVENNA, O., Oct. 27—One fireman was killed and another injured seriously and several hurt slightly, when the walls of the burning Manhattan Electric company building collapsed early today, pinning them under an iron beam.

The dead fire fighter is David Barber Jr., 29, who with other Kent firemen answered a call for help from the Ravenna fire department. He was married and the father of two children.

Jess Smith, Kent fireman, was hurt seriously and Frank Murphy of the local fire department was badly cut and bruised. Both were sent to a hospital.

The three story electric company building was wrecked and three frame structures also were destroyed, causing damage estimated at $40,000.

GUNMAN BLAMED FOR DEATH OF TOLEDOAN

Detective Cleared of Responsibility for Pistol Battle Fatality.

By The Associated Press
TOLEDO, O., Oct. 27 — Responsibility for the fatal shooting of Miss Edna Kingsley, 26, in the midst of a gun battle between detectives and a robbery suspect, was placed today by Coroner Frank G. Kreft, on the fugitive gunman, although a ballistics expert said a bullet from the gun of Detective John Mullen caused the woman's death.

Kreft announced he would file a manslaughter charge against Donald J. Elliott, 31, of Cleveland, the suspect who police said engaged Mullen and another detective in a gun duel on a downtown street, during which Miss Kingsley was used as a shield.

Sergeant James Payne, Detroit ballistics expert, said the bullet which killed the woman was from a .32 calibre revolver used by Mullen and not from a .38 calibre gun used by the suspect, but Kreft said he would exonerate Mullen on the ground he was firing in self defense.

flyer, glowingly declared of Lindbergh that "he still remains the modest self-effacing man all Paris cheered."

Cloaked as he had wished it, in silence, his arrival from Inverness, Scotland, was known only to authorities, not even the guards called on to watch along the coast knew of his coming.

Soaring away from Inverness, the flying couple headed ostensibly for Southampton, England, at noon. Hours later they were unreported. Meanwhile, storms broke. Apprehension grew.

In the midst of heightening fears on the part of those who knew nothing of the secret plans, the whir of an approaching plane was heard at the little naval airport at Le Mureaux.

The Lindberghs had taken a suite at the Hotel Crillon and had gone out to dinner before it became generally known that Paris at last had its long desired opportunity to greet the "Lone Eagle" again.

A New Gold Standard.

President Roosevelt's first public commitment to the theory of a commodity dollar was made last July in his message to the London economic conference. His words on that occasion were substantially the same as those he used in his statement to the nation last Sunday night. "The United States seeks the kind of dollar which a generation hence will have the same purchasing power and debt paying power as the dollar value we hope to attain in the near future."

Steps toward attainment of that value are being taken in the gold-purchasing program inaugurated this week. They are of a preliminary nature; the commodity dollar, the real objective, cannot be put into effect until commodity prices have been stabilized at a level which will permit payment of debts and greater purchasing power, the prime essentials of recovery.

Perplexity over the scheme indicates that it is a brand new idea. It isn't. More than 100 years ago men discussed the advantage of flexible money standards. Professor Irving Fisher of Yale university discussed the theory as long as 20 years ago. It has been a common theory long enough to have received the benefit of many viewpoints. President Roosevelt is not its discoverer.

To all those who have studied it, the central fact about the present dollar is its nature as a measure of weight, instead of value. Gold, on which the dollar is based, is a commodity with all the fluctuations in price to which commodities are subject. Yet, because the amount of gold in a dollar is fixed by law, when gold rises or falls in value the effect can occur only in the level of prices. The commodity dollar school points out what is obvious, that the dollar cannot have a fixed weight and also a fixed value. Elasticity must be provided; the commodity dollar would provide it in terms of a fluctuating weight. Value would be constant.

The technical process is difficult to understand, but it calls for withdrawal of gold coins from circulation because they are static in weight and value. With a commodity dollar in effect, the government's store of gold would be held entirely in the form of bullion. The detail of the commodity dollar seems to explain the administration's edict concerning the hoarding of gold.

The success of the price-raising effort by purchasing gold is problematic. This preliminary operation should not be confused with the plan for a commodity dollar, however. The logic of the latter offers substantial hope that in the coming weeks during which the theory will be discussed on all sides there will emerge an enthusiasm for the new gold standard it represents that will overcome most of the prevailing uncertainty regarding the administration's monetary policy. The commodity dollar offers one boon which the inelastic dollar never could offer—freedom from the debt slavery which accompanies every major decline in prices.

The Struggle for Freedom

A coincidence of an historical event and a current circumstance causes the 200th celebration of the beginning of journalistic freedom on this continent to fall in a period when that freedom again is being discussed with special vigor.

On Oct. 29, 1733, John Peter Zenger was "covering" an election in what is now Westchester county, New York. The result at the polls was a stinging rebuke to a tyrannical British governor and Zenger could not get his story published in the closely censored press of the day.

To express himself, he founded the New York Weekly Journal, whose subsequent policies are conceded to have been the seedlings of a free press in what later was to be a nation dedicated to greater measures of freedom in all things. Zenger's trial for seditious libel when he had goaded the British governor to a point of anger was described by Gouverner Morris as "the morning star of that liberty which subsequently revolutionized America."

The value of the thing gained is attested to by the careful jealousy with which it has been guarded through the years of its development. The background of recent events, containing many examples of rigid censorship by dictators, makes American appreciation of a free press stronger than it has been for many years. It is the people's best guarantee against tyranny.

There is significance in the realization coming from all sources that a free press never is threatened in periods when the mass of the people is being [illegible]. It is only in times of strife and [illegible] when power is abused that it is perpetuated by forbidding people the right to express contrary opinions. No just ruler ever had cause to fear criticism. No unjust ruler dares tolerate it.

Protest and Denial.

Arguments against the county home rule amendment distributed to Ohio voters in the official publicity pamphlet have aroused the wrath of the County Home Rule association. Charles P. Taft II has protested to Secretary of State Myers against the outrageous manner in which the opponents of the amendment have abused their constitutional rights."

Twelve points have been listed by the opposition in the pamphlet. Many of them are "obviously absurd," says Mr Taft and "some border on absolute falsehood." He charges trickery of language in an attempt to mislead voters concerning the effects of the amendment's adoption.

The following effects are listed by the opposition.

The amendment would deny the right of self-government in local communities, permit annexation of municipalities and townships without consent, abolish political parties and party responsibility, cause municipalities and townships to lose their identity, permit adoption of 88 forms of county government and create more offices, impose upon minorities forms of government adopted my majorities, abolish all present county offices, centralize governmental functions in a few officers, take property and rights from local communities without consent, permit levying of different tax rates within certain counties, increase taxes and deny some municipalities and townships representation on a charter commission in preparing a charter form of government for the county. It is charged, also, that the amendment makes no provision for schools.

To each point the County Home Rule association makes a complete answer of denial. It is not the intent of the amendment to do any of these things. It aims merely to give the people of Ohio the right to improve county government as they see fit. In effect, the amendment probably would produce no immediate changes in the majority of counties, but it would insure the right to make changes when they became desirable. In the case of urban counties, with special problems, change has been desirable for years. Many counties seem satisfied with their present government.

The opposition's statement comes close to insulting the intelligence of the public in those passages which claim that the amendment would increase inefficiency and the cost of government. The present temper of the people in regard to these matters is too well known to permit belief that they would vote to increase their burdens. The amendment is proposed to permit a logical reconstruction of county government where reconstruction is needed. The fallaciousness of the opposition's arguments, readily visible to anyone familiar with the amendment and the current trend of government, seems to prove that those arguments are advanced in desperation rather than honest conviction.

Complications.

Suspicion of a dark gentleman in the woodpile is manifest in Japan's official attitude toward forthcoming conversations between the United States and Russia looking to resumption of diplomatic relations. It presents a serious complication in this important international move.

Most important of the signs that the Japanese government is not willing to accept the conversations on the same basis as Americans is withdrawal of Ambassador Debuchi, for five years its envoy in Washington. Debuchi has been under fire from the Japanese militarist faction for maintaining too conciliatory an attitude at times.

From Moscow, furthermore, come reports that Russia may seek an understanding regarding Japan if negotiations with this government bring diplomatic recognition. Naturally, Washington has nothing to say on this point, but its very silence must be ominous for Japanese officials. Their relationship with Russia is admittedly delicate.

They fear the spread of communism in the empire. They know that Russia has been preparing for war ever since Japanese occupation of Manchuria. By Russians, the Japanese are regarded as possible invaders of Russian territory. Obviously, establishment of normal relations between Russia and the United States would strengthen the position of both countries in relation to Japan.

As important as these things are they seem irrelevant in the considerations of the American public. By no means can they be interpreted as a reason to withhold what it is anticipated will be a speedy decision to resume normal relations with Russia.

Highlights of Ohio History
BY J. H. GALBRAITH

A SOUTHERN SLAVERY FIGHTER.

Not all the militant opponents of slavery in the north during the years next preceding the Civil war were originally northern people who were moved along this line by conditions in which they had lived and which were not favorable to the profitable employment of slave labor. Some of them had come out of the south where they had turned against the institution of slavery. Many Ohioans know the story of James G. Birney of Cincinnati, who through his newspaper, the Philanthropist, waged vigorous war against slavery and by that opposition drew strenuous attacks upon him and his property from the strong pro-slavery element of the people then living in Cincinnati. But not many know that Birney was a former slave-holder himself. He lived in Alabama and when convinced that slavery was morally wrong he moved to the north in order to free his slaves.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27—Thoughts while strolling. Somehow a dress train suggests Beatrice Lillie. Kenyon Nicholson is handsomest of the current playwrights. And has a seasonal hit. Rex Weber and Phil Baker bear a resemblance and Frank Dobie and Will Rogers not only look but talk alike.

One word description of Barbara Bennett—marbly. They say Marilyn Miller at 35, is richest of the American actresses, she put it all in government bonds. Whatever became of Theda Bara? Noel Coward's influence on manners is hilariously revealed in that revue.

Even the chambermaids and waiters in a hotel where he is a guest affect his speech and pose walk. Zaz Hitchcock is as beautiful as ever she was. And as charming. Burns and Allen always seem to be twittering that way on the street, too. Nobody can barge along like Heywood Broun.

Ona Munson, a Minneapolis, Minn. girl, who made good in the city. No magazine editor appears to get so much rollicking fun out of life as Harold Ross. Mrs. Arthur Somers Roche's Dutch bob. Percy Hammond calls the Dorothy Parker crowd "the charade anagram set."

One of my favorite people—Robert Rubin. [illegible] couldn't photograph that sartorial splash of Mickey Neilan's green shirt with a salmon pink tie. When that Frances Maddux sings a noisy speakeasy all of a sudden becomes a sedate drawing room. And that's art!

Prize fighters are notoriously shy of humor. Scarcely all catch a joke on the third round. Imagine Carnera fielding a fast one. The exception is Jack Dempsey, who is still a practical joker. Two days before one of his championships he appeared for a sparring work out with his left arm bandaged and in splints. Everybody in the training squad turned oyster white. Dempsey, simulating agony, went through the paces, poking awkwardly with his injured fin and boldly receiving a light jab he went spinning around the ring in cart wheels. It was expert comedy.

The most striking natural resemblance the theater has seen since a fellow of forgotten name burlesqued Caruso in a Follies is that of Tommy Hamilton to the Prince of Wales at the Music Box. He has David's face, walk, talk and hair brush to a T. In casting circles "a natural."

The Guild of Autograph Hounds at first nights has embellished their old calling with a new cooperation. Along the curbs out-riders peer into limousines and megaphone the names of celebrities through their hands to the hyena wolf circle at the entrances. Calling Tallulah Bankhead!" When Nunnally Johnson was first called to Hollywood to labor on his film script, he spent three months around the studios while others dissected and reassembled his brainchild. Otis Skinner is among the few sterling actors who is an incurable trouper. He prefers the road with sleeper jumps and uncomfortable hotels to a New York run, his comfortable home and admiring cronies at the Players. This season he is swashbuckling in the provinces with a high class revival of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." And reverses the usual hoggishness of stars for top billing. He insisted Queenie Smith as "Topsy" be co-starred. Deserving, of course, but cracks up the stellar tradition.

For twenty years I've been seeing George White around. In that time his costume never changed—blue serge suit, white, soft-collared shirt and midget black bow. Plus, of course, the precise middle hair-part. If some day he busts out in zig-zaggy stripes and a red tie that, like the man biting a dog, will be news.

Another Broadwayite one would rather expect to swirl with barber pole effects is Texas Guinan's White Way-wise young brother, Tommy. But he, too, expresses apple-pie decorum sartorially. -:- Behind The News In -:-
Washington And Wall Street

BY GEORGE DURNO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—The telephone rang in the office of Comptroller of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor the other day. News had broken that the government was going to set up a special agency with R. F. C. money to liquidate that billion dollars in frozen bank deposits.

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, former secretary of the treasury and banking authority, was calling.

"How about this story I read?" asked Glass. "What authority in law do you have?"

Comptroller O'Connor hedged a little.

"I'll tell you," said the Virginia senator. "You have the Glass act and under it the only corporation of such a nature permitted is the Deposit Insurance Corporation. That, as you know, is limited to federal reserve members."

O'Connor called attention to a ruling by Attorney General Cummings that a special law permitted establishment of a banking agency in the District of Columbia under supervision of the comptroller of the currency. It is a liberal law and the agency would correspond to a state bank rather than a national bank.

Glass was unimpressed. In fact he served notice that he would denounce the move as illegal if the administration persisted in carrying it through.

The comptroller suggested that Glass have breakfast with Henry Bruere, President Roosevelt's newest financial fixer, and talks things over.

The breakfast meeting was held. Bruere apparently backed away from the proposition despite the attorney general's decision.

Stet

The defrosting operation was to have been in charge of C. B. Merriam, member of the R. F. C.

On the day details were to be announced (and following the Glass-Bruere conversation) Jesse Jones, chairman of the R F C, received newspaper men instead of Merriam. The Texan made it clear he was going to handle the situation personally. Further he indicated, the thawing of closed banks would continue under the existing R. F. C. policies.

So you may not get your tied-up savings back so soon after all.

Soviets

Speculation is keen in Washington as to who will be our first ambassador to Moscow after resumption of Russian relations. That it will be a major league job is obvious.

Two schools of thought clash whenever the topic comes up.

One group is sure John Van A. McMurray will get the post.

At present McMurray is our envoy to Latvia, Lithuania and Esthonia. He is a career man formerly stationed in China.

His proponents argue the very selection of such a solidly grounded diplomat for such a relatively unimportant assignment as Latvia, Lithuania and Esthonia was the tip-off on what was to come.

These little countries border Russia. McMurray is all set to step across the line if his luck breaks that way.

Another group thinks the Russian mission will be tendered Dr Felix Frankfurter, respected member of the Brain Trust.

And they predict if Frankfurter doesn't want it he can just about name his man.

Those so thinking are certain the job is going to a man of his faith.

De-Coding

It would appear that the mail order group, the Macy interests and the farmers didn't fare so well in the retail code as they thought at first blush.

These were the interests fighting the cost-plus-10 per cent provision on the ground it constituted price-fixing. They succeeded in getting rid of it. The code merely said goods must not be sold below actual cost.

But, continues the code in a section labeled "Loss Limitation Provision," the selling price to consumers shall include an allowance for actual wages of store labor." Taken on the average labor costs in department stores run around 12 per cent. In the biggest stores they mount as high as 18 per cent and more.

The code authority to be established is ordered to determine these labor costs and publish them from time to time.

It is not likely that you will be able to buy many articles at cost plus 12 per cent.

Genreal Johnson is authority for the statement it costs about 26 per cent to operate a store.

Inasmuch as the store owners have a rooted dislike of bankruptcy this 26 per cent unquestionably will be tacked on to invoice costs together with a little more for the house.

First Lady

A number of cities are bidding for the model tenement structure Secretary Ickes' new federal housing corporation plans to build.

It is more than likely Washington, D. C., will get the call for one big reason. Mrs. Roosevelt, like most of her predecessors, is distressed over alley conditions in the national capital. She wants the unsanitary hovels that infest them wiped out.

Public works has come along to make this possible if Ickes and his board will only agree. Mrs. Roosevelt is a masterful lobbyist.

Notes

There are those who contend Russian recognition was brought forward at this precise time as an intelligent move to meet the domestic situation, particularly the farm strike . . . The day it was announced a newspaper man born in Russia hung back and jokingly applied to the President for the job as ambassador . . . Noticing his Semitic features Mr Roosevelt replied with mock seriousness he thought it better to send the reporter to Berlin and transfer Ambassador Dodd to Moscow . . . When Secretary Ickes incorporated his housing corporation in Delaware he was showing a desire for speed . . . All lawyers know this state has most liberal laws under which to incorporate.

BY JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 27—The President's gold-price policy as seen from here was neat navigation between a visible iceberg and an invisible reef.

The iceberg was farm unrest. Even Wall Street—slow to react to rural woes—had become genuinely alarmed at evidence of Milo Reno's strike progress. Clearly a price move had to be made at once or the recovery ship might have taken a Titanic dive.

Topnotch New York scouts report from the farm belt that the twist of the rudder is working. Reno himself remains a rebel but his army dwindles.

The hidden reef was almost as dangerous as the berg. After dozens of rumors about France abandoning the gold the real thing is approaching. The minute it happened the dollar would have been adrift in a whirlpool of chaotic currencies. There was every chance of the dollar climbing and prices sinking once more. That also would have smashed a damaging hole in recovery's hull. Now the hull is gold-sheathed at home.

Realities

The real situation, according to the wisest New York observers, is political and psychological rather than economic. It's safe to predict that the treasury will feel its way in raising the gold price. After each small step there will be a pause to wait for its effects, the climb to be resumed when they wear off.

Wall Street's published distaste for the move was mostly for the record. What counts inside is the reprieve from greenbacks. Also the big fellows privately admit the need for such action to check the farm revolt. The chief sincere complaint is that the plan won't work in practice.

The answer from those favoring the idea is that you can't tell until you try. "And we do know the delightful consequences of a fixed gold level."

But bear in mind that the administration is committed to nothing but a general policy with new machinery to start it rolling. The pilot can still change the course again if new shoals loom.

Mirrors

The administration's reliance on psychology stirs a New York oldtimer to the following comment. "Hoover used to pull rabbits out of a hat when things got bad. Roosevelt doesn't even do that. He just shows you the reflections of the rabbits in a mirror."

Triumph

Off-hand the new gold policy looks like a personal triumph for Professor Warren over the united forces of treasury and federal reserve advisers. The latter have been pulling for stabilization. But insiders say it should really be scored as a triple play: Reno to Daladier to Warren. The professor has had his plan ready for some time (it was mentioned here a month ago) but he owes the chance to try it out to fractious farmers and French taxpayers.

Professor Irving Fisher's commodity dollar also looks like a winner but don't be too sure. You have to catch your price level before you can sprinkle index numbers on its tail.

Agony

France may suffer the added agony of watching some of her precious gold hoard disappear to these shores. American exporters and speculators who have built up franc balances are sniffing the possibilities of converting their francs into gold and then selling the gold to the U. S. government.

That would be easy money but it mayn't be so simple to get it. Chances are the R. F. C. will buy very little gold for a while and its purchases will come from American mines.

Alliance

New York was more than casually interested in the friendly chat between Miles Reno and A. F. Whitney of the railroad brotherhoods. The grapevine whispers that Reno was trying to enlist Brotherhood support for an embargo on wheat shipments by rail. Whitney is said to have been sympathetic but non-committal. Farm strikers have been plenty tough with trucks but they haven't ventured to fool around with the railways.

Retail Code

The retailers are far from happy about their new code but it represents a workable compromise. There is still plenty of room to cut prices on clearance sales and to meet competition and the consensus is that these loop-holes will be worked over-time.

The concessions to stores in small towns were urgently needed to prevent farm resistance to NRA from reaching landslide proportions. The Blue Eagle would have been well plucked if something of the sort hadn't been done.

Supreme Court

New York authorities understand that at least two resignations from the U. S. supreme court are due in the next few months. The retiring members believe that the court should be responsive to public opinion but are personally out of sympathy with the New Deal. Local conservatives are worried about who will get their jobs.

Sidelights

Political insiders say that Farley's chances to be governor of New York are defunct is McKee loses . . . Tammany's belated relief push to win votes is a boon to breadliners . . . Lots of them have food and shelter for the first time in months.

Dinner Stories

Saiesman—"Ladies and gentlemen, I have here the famous flexible comb that will stand any kind of treatment. You can bend it double—you can hit it with a hammer—you can twist it—you can—" Interested Listener—"Say, mister, can you comb your hair with it?" —(Travelers' Beacon.)

TODAY
Arthur Brisbane's News Review : : :

NEW YORK, Oct. 27—Gold went up 15 cents an ounce yesterday. Ladies and gentlemen who put their money in gold, let it lie, without interest, and then had it taken away by the United States government, will quote lines that Whittier borrowed from Dante and Dante borrowed from somebody else:

"For of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these 'It might have been.'"

Those that know nothing about money, which means about 123,000,000 in the United States, found it amusing to see the United States go off the gold basis, and then enter into a competition with England bidding for gold, which had previously been called an unnecessary feature of our money system.

There are two world prices for gold, one in London, in shillings and pence; one here, in dollars. Nobody knows quite what the pound or dollar is worth, so the values in gold don't mean much. The real value in gold is based on the franc, still on a gold basis.

So the little French franc, originally worth more than 19 cents, then cut down to less than 4 cents, is now the world's standard of value. The president of France, if he knew American slang, might say to the President of the United States, "Laugh that off."

Remarkable Hen

More interesting than gold to millions of Americans is a white Leghorn owned by H. H. Ruttledge of Sardis, British Columbia. Yesterday she laid her 252d egg in 350 days, and is expected to break the world's record of 357 eggs in 365 days.

We think it wonderful when one of our own kind produces a "marvelous boy baby weighing nine pounds."

In 60 days that Leghorn hen produced eggs weighing more than she does.

Senator McAdoo of California, back from Russia, "could not help but see evidence of progress in the construction of huge apartment houses, streets, sewers and transit facilities."

He admires President Roosevelt's wisdom moving toward recognition of Russia, and was impressed by the absence of "unemployment" in Moscow.

They make people work over there whether they want to or not. Here they can't get work even when they want it.

Swimming Under Water

Burma is proud of her champion swimmer, Prafulla Kumar Ghose, who swam 79 hours 24 minutes without stopping in the royal lake at Rangoon.

Hawaii claims the record with Charles Zimmy, "legless" swimmer, who swam 100 hours in a Honolulu pool.

Wall street says:

"That is making a fuss about nothing. Thousands of us down here have been 'under water' for the last four years without coming up."

They have, and so have their bankers.

Whalen's Prediction

Grover Whalen, extremely able young man who looks after NRA in New York City, "sold on the millennium," prophesies "the end of the individualist and great distribtuion of wealth." Distribution of wealth will continue, as in the past. Years ago slaves worked for nothing but blows and sorrow. Then men were serfs, sold with the land. Then came miserably poor wages, less than $25 a year in Russia, for instance, while a President of the United States complained that you couldn't hire a good man in America for less than $100 a year. Recently mechanics got from $5 to $20 a day, now they get less. Occasionally somebody gets a million dollars, or a hundred million, or five hundred million. That means nothing. He never takes it with him.

If in the end of the "individualist" should come, that would mean an end of enterprise. But there is no danger of it. Strong individuals, like Grover Whalen, will always exist, each with his top hat and his gardenia in his buttonhole, if he wants them, doing useful work for society.

There are no individualists among ants, mud wasps or bees. There are, thank heaven, individualists among human beings. We may reach the mud-wasp stage, but not in a million years.

An Improvement

The government will lend farmers 50 cents a bushel on corn, and for corn grown on good land 50 cents is not a bad price, although it ought to be $1.

Some cal lthe government's lending "socialism." The majority will agree that it is better than old conditions, under which corn sold for 10 cents a bushel and many farmers used it for fuel because it was cheaper than coal.

In Constantinople, now called Istanbul, 1,000 Turkish peasants were received yesterday as guests of the governor, in honor of the tenth anniversary of the Turkish republic, and lodged in ancient palaces, well fed, highly honored, with military honors.

The world progresses. Ladies from all over the world have seen the inside of palaces, occupying beautiful harems in Turkey. Charles the Twelfth of Sweden was a prisoner there, Asiatic conquerors marched in occasionally. This experience for the peasants is something new in history.

The Word of God.

Painful Wry-Neck Is Sudden.

[illegible] unusual for somebody [illegible] the morning with a [illegible] the neck. On going [illegible] was no pain, but in the [illegible] almost impossible to [illegible]. The victim holds [illegible] toward the painful [illegible] chin pointing up[illegible] what happens [illegible] the condition known or "torticollis" as it is [illegible] medical profession is [illegible] of the muscles of [illegible] involve both sides [illegible] as a rule only one [illegible]. The inflamma[illegible] be traced to an [illegible] or wet.

This is relieved [illegible] head is held in the posi[illegible] described. At times the [illegible] victim may sleep on [illegible] when he finds him[illegible]. This painful affl[illegible] alarming than serious [illegible] the suddenness of the [illegible] more or less bewildering

Fortunately the symptoms soon disappear.

There is a type [illegible] that does not disappear [illegible] treatment, but requires an operation for complete cure. I refer to that form of wry-neck which can be traced to neglect of inflammation [illegible] in childhood. It may be the result of a difficult birth which [illegible] to the muscles of the infant's neck.

If this condition is neglected the muscles become weak and permanent deformity results. This deformity causes an alteration in the normal position of the spine. Twisting of the head may lead to faulty development of the muscles of the face with change in the facial expression. It may even affect the speech.

May I assure the worried mother that the operation is not a difficult one and need cause no alarm. By a simple procedure the shortened muscle is cut. This allows the head to return to the proper position instead of being pulled to one side.

After the tendon is severed, a plaster of paris bandage is placed around the neck, head and under both arms. The cast keeps the head in normal position, corrects the deformity and allows the cut muscle to heal.

This may sound like a formidable procedure but in reality it is simple. The results are extremely successful and that is the best part of it.

After healing takes place the muscles are massaged. The young victim is instructed in special exercises of the head. These improve the tone and strength of the diseased muscles. Within a short time it is difficult to recognize that the child ever suffered from wry-neck.

Lutheran Missionary Society Ends Meeting

Two-Day Session Brings 39 Delegates and 357 Visitors Here from Ohio Churches.

The second biennial meeting of the Ohio District of the Women's Missionary Federation of the American Lutheran church [illegible] its session yesterday afternoon at Emanuel church here with 39 delegates and 357 visitors. [illegible] Department chairmen [illegible] reports, summaries of department conferences held yesterday morning were read, resolutions were adopted and the officers were presented.

Officers elected were Mrs. G. O. Gast of Columbus, president; Mrs. K. A. Mueller of Lima, vice president; Miss Marie Alberts of [illegible], secretary; Mrs. Henry [illegible] of Dayton, treasurer; Mrs. [illegible] Keller of Grove City, [illegible] chairman; Mrs. [illegible] of Dayton, life and in memoriam chairman; Mrs. Dan Kh[illegible], Indian lace department chairman; Mrs. Edward [illegible] of Columbus, junior mission chairman; Mrs. George Cla[illegible] of Akron, missionary education [illegible].

Miss Ruth Hepner, 22, of Cleveland, who will leave Dec. 2 to enter missionary work in India and her mother, Mrs. Charles Hepner, were introduced. Miss Hepner will be consecrated to her work on Nov. 26 in the Hope Lutheran church of Cleveland.

The district went on record indorsing the federation's "forward looking" program, and pledging support in carrying out as an organization and individuals, the federation slogan "We would see Jesus," which was the theme of the meeting here.

A meeting of junior mission workers of the Ohio district some time in the near future was announced in the chairman's report. The thankoffering chairman's report outlined a program to be carried out through December. By the end of this month, according to the program, each society [illegible] have its thank-offering boxes for the coming year. Mimes Actors Make Hit in Pulitzer Prize Play

[illegible] Most Satisfying Show Ever Produced by Marion Little Theater Group.

BY HALLIE HOUCK
[illegible] Star Staff Writer

[illegible] public can take [illegible]mes wrapped in such [illegible]king package as [illegible] Houses" the 1933 [illegible] play which the [illegible] presented last night [illegible] on Davids street [illegible] play of the 1933-34 [illegible] performance will [illegible] night at 8:15 and from [illegible] ticket sales [illegible] another capacity [illegible].

That Maxwell Anderson [illegible] the play with the Pulitzer prize as [illegible] extremely [illegible] of this award as "the play which [illegible] "Both Your Houses" [illegible].

[illegible] packs a punch the while [illegible]. The [illegible] in the last scene, [illegible] the weight of [illegible] in which a $4 [illegible] is boosted to [illegible]. Exaggerated, perhaps [illegible] the wholesale [illegible] which [illegible] this play.

Facts, facts and that's why "Both Your Houses" was the success [illegible] on Broadway and on the [illegible] stage last night. [illegible] can be swallowed [illegible] candy-coated [illegible] candy-coating with swift, stinging lines that bring [illegible].

Much to the credit of the Mimes [illegible] dialogue is unexpurgated. It [illegible] a little vigorous language [illegible] in the Mimes production. Mrs. Rodney B. Hume, the director, [illegible] the over-the-footlights bouquet tonight for the results of her work.

The play moves along with speed and snap. The actors fill their parts and play them to the hilt. Altogether, it's the most thoroughly satisfying production the Mimes have given, viewed from every angle.

The play covers a period of six days, during which an appropriations committee prepares a $40,000,000 bill for Congress. Every one on the committee, from the chairman, Jay Vaughan, to the congresswoman, Mrs. Jay Vaughan, has a pet measure to slip in and be carried along on the main issue, and the completed bill amounts to more [illegible]. The [illegible] new [illegible] school [illegible] monkey [illegible]. He's [illegible] own election [illegible] and the [illegible]. In a [illegible] he loads the bill with all the measures that [illegible] down and raises the sum to $4[illegible],000,000 [illegible] that [illegible] graft-ridden measure will never pass Congress.

Pass It Anyway

But he reckons without Fred W. Warner, veteran [illegible] whose oratory [illegible] when delivered before the right people and without his own touch of sentimentality [illegible] refuses to see the committee [illegible] father of the girl in whom he is more than interested, sent to jail. The bill is passed.

Mr. Warner, Mr. Francis and Mr. Vaughan carry the brunt of the lines, with the swashbuckling, whisky-drinking, hard-swearing Congressman Solomon Fitzmaurice done by Mr. Warner getting a full measure of laughs. All he wants is the Atlantic fleet as an attraction at his new summer resort. Robert [illegible], Russell M. Wilhelm, Robert Y. Smith, Rodney B. Hume, Alfred Donithen and Homer Cleary are congressmen and members of the committee. Asa Queen is the President's right-hand man. Oliver E. Hamilton is Mr. Frances' secretary until the congressman fires him and hires Mrs. Wilfred Schaffner, a secretary who knows Washington better than a mother knows her own child. Mrs. A. Merle Hamilton is Mr. Vaughan's daughter and secretary. Clyde W. Morrison is a radical congressman and Norbert Hannegan is an office employe.

Miss Mildred Duffey filled in the intermissions last night with piano selections.

RADNOR MAN DENIES AUTO THEFT CHARGE

Edward McGrew, Paroled Convict Arraigned in Municipal Court.

Edward McGrew, 35, giving his address as Radnor, O., a convict on parole from the Ohio penitentiary, was arraigned in municipal court yesterday afternoon on a charge of automobile theft.

McGrew is charged with the theft of a Ford coupe owend by L. S Irey of 983 East Center street.

Shortly after the theft of the car police arrested McGrew and his companion, Janette Armstrong, 21, of Cleveland, said to be an escaped inmate of the state feeble-minded institution in Columbus.

McGrew pleaded not guilty to the charge. Hearing is scheduled for Nov. 2 at 9 a. m. with bond set at $3,000 by Municipal Judge William R. Martin.

It was reported that McGrew was paroled from the penitentiary two weeks ago after serving five years on a sentence for theft.

It has not been established, police said, whether McGrew was instrumental in Miss Armstrong's escape from the feeble-minded institution. She did tell police, they reported, that McGrew had promised to meet her if she did escape.

PROHIBITION PLAY IS PRESENTED HERE

"The Aftermath" Witnessed by Audience at Central Junior High Auditorium.

A fair-sized crowd attended presentation of the play, "The Aftermath," last night at Central Junior High school, under the sponsorship of the United Dry Forces of Marion county.

The play, which had as its theme an indictment of the liquor interests, was presented by the authors, H. B. Hall and Judge M. C. Summers of California.

Rev. Franklin G. Markley, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, presided and Edwin Irey played the accompaniments for a song service preceding the play.

Mr. Hall and Judge Summers left today for Tiffin, where they will present the play tonight. They will return to Marion next week and repeat the presentation Sunday night Nov. 5, at Calvary Evangelical church, it is announced.

BED CLOTHING IS MADE BY CIRCLE

Ten garments and one comforter were completed at the all-day sewing held by the Interdenominational Sewing circle yesterday at the home of Mrs. Charles Burke of Davids street. The meeting opened with prayer. With the approach of the winter season Mrs. Burke is receiving numerous requests for clothing and bedding. Matresses for needy families could be distributed by Mrs. Burke, she states.

FINDLAY MINISTER ON PROGRAM HERE

Rev. William Ennenegger of Findlay will preach tonight at 7:30 on "The Power of the Cross," at the Assembly of God church at 188 Blaine avenue. The sermon will be illustrated. L. C. Hicks of White Hall, Ill., musician, will sing "Jesus Remembers When the World Forgets."

The services will continue for the fourth week, Rev. G. M. Babcock, pastor, announced today.

CONTINUE WORK OF REMOVING CAR RAILS

Activity Started on Center Street; Traffic To Be Maintained.

With removal of interurban tracks on North State street from Mill street to Center street practically complete, city workmen today extended their work to the East Center street tracks.

City Service Director E. O. Uncapher said the rails on Center street will be burned off by acetylene torches and the brick relaid. On State street the rails were removed intact but this will not be attempted on Center, Mr. Uncapher said. It is said the upper four and one half inches of the seven-inch high rails will be burned off.

The work will progress westward on Center street at the rate of about a block every four or five days, Mr Uncapher said. Traffic will not be shut off from Center street, Uncapher said, but will be routed around the workmen as well as possible.

The contract for burning off the rails has not been let yet, Mr. Uncapher said, as this part of the work probably will not start until Monday.

M. E. AID CIRCLE NAMES CHAIRMAN

Miss Mary Rexforth was elected chairman of Circle No. 11, Ladies' Aid society, Epworth M. E. church, to fill a vacancy left by the resignation of Mrs. C. G. TRUSTEES OPPOSE HOME RULE PLAN

Register Objection To Amendment at Meeting in LaRue.

Opposition to the proposed home rule amendment was voted last night by the Marion county association of Township Trustees and Clerks.

The action was taken at a countywide meeting at the LaRue school after Joe R. Thomas, president of the state association, attacked the amendment, which will be voted on in November, as a step toward eliminating real home rule. He said the passage of the proposed amendment would abolish county government and would possibly give the governor the power to appoint all county officials.

The Marion county association decided to conduct an educational campaign to acquaint voters with the measure.

John Abel, county relief director, explained how the federal-state relief program would affect townships.

H O Donither of Waldo, president of the county association, presided at the meeting and refreshments were served by the trustees of Bowling Green and Montgomery townships. Fifty-one persons, representing all but two townships in the county, attended.

Homemaker's Question Box

Question—Why should we use liver?

Answer—Liver is a valuable food for all families especially for children. It is rich in iron and copper which are essential for the building of red blood corpuscles. It is one of the richest sources of vitamin A, is a good source of vitamin B and contains some vitamin G, as well as being a rich source of protein. Serve liver frequently especially for children and be sure to give the livers to the children when you have chicken, goose, rabbit or duck, suggests Alma Garvin nutrition specialist for the Ohio State University.

Liver may be used frequently in the school lunch for it makes excellent filling for sandwiches.

Liver has a very delicate flavor if it is well prepared. It may be very easily overcome by cooking a little too long or by using too high a temperature.

Harding Badly Crippled for Struggle with Mansfield

PRESIDENTS WILL BE DISTINCT UNDERDOG IN TYGER CONFLICT

Whitcum Only Letterman Available for Tit With Unbeaten Murphymen.

The lineup riddled by a succession of injuries and a virtual epidemic of sickness Harding High grid forces are taking things easy today as they await the Saturday invasion of Fairground field by the Mansfield Tygers. At 2:30 p. m. Saturday the Presidents will be called on to attempt to do what no other team has been able to accomplish since 1928 namely, hand the Men of Murphy the short end of the final score.

A list of those regulars who are on the sick or injured list will prevent this being construed as an out and out bear story for the benefit of a team which even with its full strength figured to take a beating. Some of the boys will be in the line up at least part of the time, despite poor physical condition because of the decided shortage of material in the Presidents camp. Several, however will not be able to play at full speed.

Junior Danner, the prize hard luck member of the Red and Black squad is out of action again this week, a recurrence of his old leg injury keeping him on the sidelines. Danner played last week for the first time after a layoff from sickness and the leg injury. He apparently came through that game all right but pulled up lame in practice early this week.

George Mason, a regular guard, is out with torn ligaments in his wrist. Ingmire, another lineman, may be in uniform but will see little if any service due to a shoulder injury. Chappell, regular right end, is not expected to be available at all. As it stands now, there will be one letter man from last year in the lineup. Maury Whitcum will be at fullback but there are some doubts concerning his ability to go a full game, a bad knee having given him some trouble recently.

Because of the shortage of material Cheadle has made one end into a tackle and may start him at that position Saturday. Harbolt, who has been playing on the left flank has been switched to tackle. Either he or Corrigan will start at the left tackle post.

Drubbing Appears Likely

Coming as it does at the time when Harding is scheduled to face its toughest foe of the season, the wave of misfortune appears likely to result in a terrific clawing for the Presidents at the hands of the rampaging Tygers. Mansfield is

CONNIE MACK SELLS BRILLIANT PORTSIDER TO BOSTON RED SOX

Washington Post Says Max Bishop Also Included in Cash Deal.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—The Washington Post said today that Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove, star of the Philadelphia Athletics' pitching staff, has been sold to the Boston Red Sox.

While details of the trade were lacking, it was said to be an outright purchase by the Boston club with reports that Max Bishop, veteran infielder, and another pitcher will be included by Manager Connie Mack in the shipment to Boston. The cash return to the Athletics was estimated at $200,000.

LEFTY GROVE

The Post said details of the deal have been consummated though announcement was not expected for several weeks. It added:

"Owner Yawkey's determination to place a winning team in Boston was expressed near the finish of the 1953 season co-incident with his announcement that he was spending $350,000 to improve Fenway park in expectation of the larger crowds that Red Sox are likely to draw a contending team in the American league race.

MAX BISHOP

"The last three seasons have seen the Philadelphia club put much red ink in its ledgers even in its latest pennant-winning year of 1931, when Mack declared that the team lost money despite its championship and a share in the World series."

Connie Mack Denies Sale of Grove

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 27—Connie Mack today denied a report that he had sold "Lefty" Grove to the Boston Red Sox for $200,000.

"That's very nice of others to dispose of my players," said the manager of the Athletics. "I like the price very much, but since they've gone that far I think I'll hold out a while and see if they can get the ante raised.

"No sale has been made."

DENIED RETURN BOUT BY M'LARNIN, EX-CHAMP TAKES $200 ROAD JOB

By The Associated Press

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—To California's motoring public and 200 state traffic officers he is Inspector Ralph Giordana. Boxing faithful remember him as "Young Corbett III."

The stocky Fresno southpaw, who won the welterweight championship on February 22 of this year and lost it three months later, has side-tracked professional boxing to become athletic instructor for California's traffic patrol.

Draws $200 a Month.

If and when Corbett can get a return title match with Jimmy McLarnin he says he will don the gloves again. In the meantime he will teach the men who regulate the state's highway traffic to keep themselves physically fit, making up a bit of boxing along with other athletic routine.

With the title of "Inspector" in the state traffic division the 27-year-old Italian youth will draw down a salary of $200 a month. His share of the purse when he lost the welterweight title to McLarnin in a one round knockout amounted to $35,000.

While he could have continued in the pugilistic field as the first ranking challenger for the 147-pound crown, Corbett held out for a return match with the new champion rather than embark on a "take on all comers" campaign.

Lengthy negotiations failed to materialize into another bout with McLarnin, so the name "Inspector Ralph Giordana" was added to the state's payroll, and boxing temporarily at least, has lost "Young Corbett, III."

YOUNG CORBETT III

Only a few months ago Young Corbett, III, basked in the sports spotlight as welterweight boxing champion. Now he's teaching his fellow highway officers how to keep in trim and tracking down an occasional speeder. Declares he'll stick it out until McLarnin fights him again.

WILDCATS PICKED BY EXPERTS TO TOPPLE OHIO STATE ELEVEN

Gophers Choice To Beat Iowa; Army Given Slight Edge Over Yale.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 27—It may be just another case of "fools rushing in" but the weekly guessing contest is an amusing pastime for football followers and, after all, it's his own neck the would-be prognostricator risks.

With this in mind, and granting in advance that the chance for accurate comparison is lacking in many instances, here's the way the week'end's major engagements look.

Southern California-California — Oregon State demonstrated last week that the Trojans could be held to a scoreless draw but Southern California still looks like the class of the Pacific coast conference.

Army-Yale—With Jack Buckler to match against Yale's Bob Lassiter, the Cadets rate a slight edge.

Gophers Rate Edge

Minnesota-Iowa — A match of Gopher power and Iowa speed personified mostly by young Joe Laws. This timid ballot for Minnesota is explained by the Gophers' fine showing against Pitt.

Georgia-New York university—Undefeated Georgia is the logical favorite.

Michigan-Chicago — Apparently the spot for Michigan's second Big Ten victory.

Fordham-Alabama — Two undefeated exponents of the Notre Dame system collide in this one with a break or two probably the decisive factor. This vote for Fordham.

Tennessee-Florida—Beaten twice in a row, Tennessee seems likely to recover in time to spoil Florida's undefeated record.

Ohio State-Northwestern—One of the toughest of them all but Northwestern's new-found attack may pull the Wildcats through.

Pitt Is Choice

Notre Dame-Pitt—Notre Dame's poor showing against Carnegie inspires a vote for the Panther.

Princeton-Washington & Lee—Princeton should win handily.

Harvard-Dartmouth — Dartmouth is the indicated favorite.

Wisconsin-Purdue — Wisconsin's something of a Purdue jinx but there's no alternative but to pick the Boilermakers on their record.

Columbia-Penn State—The Nittany Lions uncovered an attack last week but they don't rate with Columbia.

Michigan State-Syracuse — Syracuse looks strong enough to avenge a 1932 beating.

Tulane-Auburn—The Green Wave may roll over the plainsmen of Auburn.

Irish Drill Secret.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 27—Hunk Anderson says it was "just brushing up our offense" but Notre Dame's secret practice yesterday was supposed to have been devoted to perfecting a new attack for use against the Pitt Panthers.

CRESTLINE PROS TO PLAY UNBEATEN TEAM

Ellet Junior Order of Akron To Battle Merchant Eleven Sunday.

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, Oct. 27—The Ellet Junior Order of Akron will endeavor to add the Crestline Merchants to their undefeated record of two years at Stadium field in Crestline Sunday afternoon.

Some idea of the invaders strength may be realized by their recent defeat of the Lorain Fisher Foods, 10 to 0, the team recently held to a scoreless tie by the local dispensers of pigskin entertainment. In addition, the Akron organization are the only eleven to hold a victory over the strong Erie, Pa., Pros.

With Eustace, stellar quarterback passing acurately and Sweet, right end and former Mt. Union ace, snagging the tosses, the gridiron machine from the rubber city has yet to meet its superiors on the barred field.

Killbourne, former Kent State line smasher, does the fullbacking, and seldom fails to produce a few yards.

The Merchants lineup will be considerably strengthened by the presence of Otto Vocaty, former All-Ohio conference luminary at Heidelberg, and more recently of the Chicago Cardinals. While representing the Windy City, Vocaty had the honor of scoring a touchdown on the internationally known Green Bay Packers.

CAREY TAKES FIFTH GAME IN SUCCESSION

North Baltimore Beaten 20-0: Winners Score Twice in Second Period.

CAREY, Oct. 27—Carey High school extended its winning streak to five games in a row yesterday by handing North Baltimore High school a 20-0 lacing on the Carey gridiron. It was the first loss in six starts for North Baltimore.

Both teams played on even terms in the first period but Carey commenced to display its superiority in the second quarter. The winners marked up two touchdowns in the last four minutes of the first half and then added a third counter early in the third period. North Baltimore stiffened after that and stopped the Carey attack.

The lineups:

Carey	Pos.	N. Baltimore
Jesse	L.E.	Dietlbach
Harris	L.T.	Straley
Mullholland	L.G.	Lloyd
Irick	C.	Chapman
Turnbell	R.G.	Apple
Pattison	R.T.	Swartz
Keller	R.E.	Moore
Smiley	Q.B.	Brunbaugh
Myers	L.H.	Thompson
Kitzler	R.H.	Jones

Touchdowns: Messmer, Smiley and Myers. Points after touchdown, Mullholland 2 (place kicks).

Football Out, Too Expensive for Wilmington

By The Associated Press

WILMINGTON, O., Oct. 27 — Archery, horseback riding, tennis and even horseshoe pitching have taken the place of intercollegiate football in Wilmington college's new athletic program.

The college abandoned football last year after a season in which the college showed "several dollars in the red" and college authorities, headed by Dr. Walter L. Collins, president, began building a broad athletic program for all students.

William Gilliland, a star football player of the University of Cincinnati in 1932, is in charge of athletics.

Dr. Collins explains the change simply. "Football did not pay at Wilmington college," he says, "and any business man who loses money year after year will eventually quit."

Wilmington, the president added, cannot afford to "buy players" and does not have sufficient money to promote football teams.

Basketball is the favored sport and the college has arranged one of its hardest schedules for this year.

Proponents of football assert an enrollment drop of 50 per cent is due to abandonment of the sport. College officials, however, point to depressed conditions as the cause.

HEAVY CANNONADING SLATED ALL ALONG BUCKEYE GRID FRONT

Dayton and John Carroll Will Open War in Cleveland Tonight.

By The Associated Press

Ohio's week-end football battlefront extends over five states stretching between New York and Oklahoma.

Only one skirmish—but a major one—will be fought tonight with the undefeated Dayton university and John Carroll bringing them out their heavy ammunition at Cleveland.

But the cannonading Saturday should be terrific. The big guns of Northwestern were lumbered out of Illinois today to be set up in Ohio stadium for Saturday's encounter with Ohio State's Buckeyes, a game that will have some bearing on the Big Ten title race. They're expecting 40,000 to stream in for that, bolstered by homecoming crowds.

Scots vs. Muskies

In three other sectors, Ohio teams will come to grips. Wooster meets Muskingum at New Concord with the Ohio conference laurels slanting toward the victor, since Wooster is undefeated and untied—the only team in the state with that record—and Muskingum has won three and tied once.

Baldwin Wallace goes up against Western Reserve at Cleveland for a decision on the greater Cleveland race, and Wittenberg meets Miami at Oxford. Only a defeat of the Redskins could have any effect on the Buckeye association race, since Miami is expected to go into second place.

Oberlin at Case, Otterbein at Ohio Northern, Ashland at Akron, Kent at Hiram, Bowling Green at Toledo and Mount Union at Heidelberg fill out the schedule for Saturday's Ohio conference engagements.

Inter-State Barrage

Here the inter-state barrage begins. Butler comes out of Indiana to play Cincinnati; Transylvania moves out of Kentucky against Ohio university; Marietta goes to Meadville, Pa., in a clash with Allegheny; Kenyon travels to Rochester, N. Y.; Defiance defies Orchard at Lake St. Mary's, Mich., Bluffton meets an Indiana school, Earlham at Bluffton, undefeated Wilberforce goes to Langston, Okla. All-Ohio games bring John Marshall against Findlay and Ohio Wesleyan against Denison.

OHIO STATE

Operating behind Ohio State's ponderous line, Carl Cramer of Dayton is regaining the form that made him an outstanding Big Ten ball-carrier in 1931.

Mt. Gilead Whips Danville by 12-0 Score

THIRD WIN IN ROW KEEPS TEAM AT TOP OF TITULAR CHASE

Morrow Countians' Attack Led By Hard Running Quarterback, Bob Payne.

MT. GILEAD, Oct. 27—Mt. Gilead won its third straight game in the Mid-State football league Thursday by defeating Danville at Danville 12 to 0. The purple and white now has victories over Belleville, Fredericktown and Danville and a scoreless tie with Butler. Two more games remain on the schedule, the first with Loudenville, Nov. [illegible] and the second with Madison Nov. [illegible] both games being played at Mt. Gilead. If Mt. Gilead wins from Loudenville the Madison game will determine the league championship as Madison has not been defeated.

Handicapped by the absence of Kent Jennings at fullback and the necessary changes in the lineup Mt. Gilead failed to gain until the second quarter against Danville. The first touchdown was scored by Bob Payne from the five-yard line on an off-tackle play after a march from the Mt. Gilead 25-yard line in which Payne carried the ball in 12 out of 15 plays and in which he gained 70 yards in end runs and off-tackle smashes. In the fourth quarter Mt. Gilead held for four straight downs on the four-yard line after a series of passses placed Danville in scoring position.

Richardson scored the final touchdown at the end of the game from the one yard line, the ball being in play when the final whistle was sounded. The interception of a Danville pass on the Danville 25-yard line by Bomberger gave the victors their opportunity to score in the last two minutes of play.

HIT THAT COLD
WHERE IT LIVES—
in the System!

Don't fool yourself about a cold! It's nothing to be taken lightly nor treated lightly. A cold is an internal infection that will quickly spread within the system unless promptly checked. The wise thing to take for a cold is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine.

First of all, it is distinctly a cold remedy and not a "cure-all." Secondly, it is an internal treatment. Thirdly, it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. That's the treatment a cold requires and anything less is taking chances. All druggists sell Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine, 30c and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and reject a substitute.—Adv.

Recovery of Star Back Boosts Stock of Badgers

MARVIN PETERSON

Even Coach Clarence Spears was convinced that Marvin Peterson, above, had played his last football for the Badgers after he was seriously injured late in the '32 campaign. But the red-head thought differently, and now he's back bigger and better than ever.

* * *

By The Associated Press

MADISON, Wis.—Fans and coaches sadly shook their heads and said he would never play football again—but Marvin Peterson, red-headed University of Wisconsin halfback, had other ideas.

As a sophomore last fall Peterson was considered one of the best "finds" in years. He performed brilliantly in several games only to finish the season with a badly injured shoulder—received in the late-season Chicago game.

Said He Was Through

Even Coach Clarence Spears said he believed the red-head had played his last game of football. But Red didn't take it so supinely, and now he is convincing almost everyone that his perserverance is going to pay dividends.

Determined to keep in good physical trim last winter, Pete went to work with the varsity track squad and was among the leading sprinters despite the fact it was necessary to tape one arm to his body.

After a delicate operation which drained him of energy and weight early in the summer he settled down to a systematic training program.

Practiced with School Boys

He rowed a boat, swam and sunbathed at his Manitowoc, Wis., home. Early in the fall he spent many hours passing and punting with the high school gridders in his home town.

Everyone was surprised when he turned up for varsity football this fall. He was given a whirl at his old right halfback post, and his work left little to be desired.

Now he looks like the triple threat menace Wisconsin fans have been waiting for.

PRESIDENTS WILL BE DISTINCT UNDERDOG IN TYGER CONFLICT

bringing a team here which has not been beaten and which packs an even more devastating wallop than the undefeated combination of 1932.

Harding's chances of staging an upset and halting the long victory streak of the invaders would not be good if the squad was in tip top shape. Whatever hopes may have been entertained along those lines by Marion partisans have been pretty well shattered by this time as a result of the numerous casualties. The principal objective of the red and black combine will probably be directed toward holding the foe to as low a score as possible.

Mansfield has completed an impressive record so far this season and will welcome the opportunity of adding the Presidents to their list of victims. In six games the Murphymen have piled up a total of 133 points while limiting the opposition to 12. The season's record: Mansfield Madison 33-6; Akron Kenmore 46-0; Lima Central 14-6; Galion 20-0 and Ashland 20-0.

Have Star Ball Carriers

In Becker Jenkins, the Tygers have a brilliant and speedy ball carrier and Dick Olin is a deadly forward passer. Olin tossed three passes against Ashland and all of them went for touchdowns. One of the three was a 50-yard heave. Gene Zediker does the quarterbacking and is credited by Mansfield sports writers with being the smartest field general Mansfield has had in several years.

Harding will be outweighed by a large margin, the Mansfield team averaging around 178 pounds. The line is heavier than 178 but the backfield is lighter. Mansfield runs its plays from the "squirrel cage" shift made famous by the University of Southern California. The Tygers use the double wingback system the same as Harding and their clever handling of the ball makes for plenty of deception.

While Harding and Mansfield are battling in Marion one other N. C. O. league game will be under way. Ashland and Galion will wage a fight for second place at Ashland. Both have lost one game, each having been trounced by Mansfield 20-0. Neither figures to have much of an edge although Ashland will probably be a slight favorite.

WELCOME MAT GOES OUT FOR HOMECOMING

Ohio State To Greet Returning Grads Tonight and Saturday.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 27—A queen will be crowned at a dance. Alumni of Ohio State and Northwestern universities will gather at a banquet and a smoker, where athletic authorities of both schools will speak. Fraternities and sororities will vie in decorating their houses.

That's homecoming at Ohio State.

Miss Marjorie Kiser of Dayton, elected by the students, will be crowned queen at a student-alumni dance tonight, escorted by Lawrence Laybourne of Springfield, the dance chairman. Tomorrow she will be given regal honors, toss a coin for the captains to decide the kick-off, and the game will be on.

At the alumni smoker, Coaches Willaman and Dick Hanley, directors St. John and "Tug" Wilson and others will speak.

Sophs To Get Trial.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 27—Ohio State's veterans failed against Michigan last week. Now the sophomores will have a chance at Northwestern. Sam Willaman indicated three second-year men, Stan Pincura at quarterback, Rees at end and Heekins at halfback, would start against the wildcats.

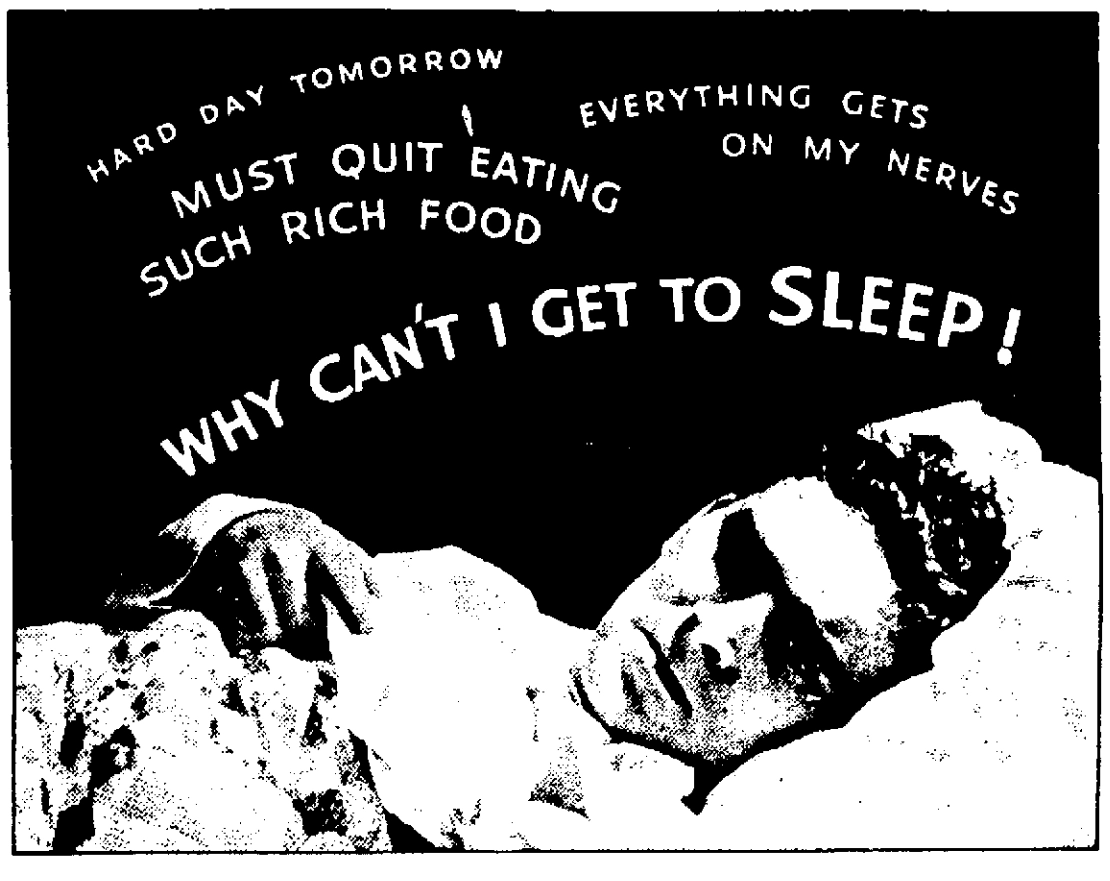
NO MORE WAKEFUL NIGHTS



HARD DAY TOMORROW
EVERYTHING GETS ON MY NERVES
MUST QUIT EATING SUCH RICH FOOD
WHY CAN'T I GET TO SLEEP!

Put an End to this—and
SLEEP TONIGHT
As Soon As You Go To Bed

Try This Natural, Drugless Way That Quickly Brings You Restful Sleep . . . And Quiet Nerves Next Day

NOW—put an end to those nightly battles when you struggle in vain for sleep. Say goodbye to those heavy-headed mornings and nerve-shattered days that inevitably follow nights of restless tossing!

For now a remarkable way has been found to bring sound sleep quickly—without medicine, without drugs. A way that physicians recommend because it is so utterly safe!

This discovery is a unique food concentrate of vital elements processed from natural foods. You simply mix it with warm milk and take it a few moments before retiring.

You fall asleep as effortlessly as a child—and sleep all night more soundly than you have, probably, in weeks and months. In the morning you awaken clear-eyed, refreshed—alive and "on your toes."

For this remarkable food-drink not only brings sound sleep quickly—but also acts to restore nerve, brain and body tissues while you're fast asleep. Besides aiding greatly in the maintenance of nerve poise—and in increasing vitality, too.

What It Is—How It Acts

This unique food-drink is called Ovaltine—and acts to combat the 3 most common causes of sleeplessness in 3 different ways—entirely without drugs.

First: Ovaltine, taken as a warm drink at b[illegible] tends to draw excess blood away from the [illegible] inviting mental calm and "[illegible]" for sleep.

Second: [illegible]

Third: Ovaltine supplies important food elements, the absence of which, in ordinary diet, leads to irritated nerves and sleeplessness.

A cup of Ovaltine, in fact, provides—in easily digested form—the food elements necessary for rebuilding nerve, brain and muscle tissue while you sleep. And, at the same time, greatly multiplies your ability to recover from fatigue. That's why millions take it night after night—and is an important reason why its use has spread today to 54 different countries.

Really Sleep Tonight!

Don't put up with night-time tossing any longer—don't endure another sleepless night! Get acquainted with Ovaltine and see how quickly you fall asleep—how much more completely you rest.

As you continue to take Ovaltine, observe the permanent benefits you obtain. Note how your natural tendency to fall asleep quickly every night is progressively restored. Note, too, how resistance to fatigue is increased—how "staying power" multiplies.

'Phone your druggist or grocer for a tin of Ovaltine now. Mix 2 to 4 teaspoonfuls in a cup of warm milk and drink it just before you go to bed tonight. You'll be delighted with the sound, refreshing sleep you get each night—and the redoubled energy that's yours with each succeeding day.

NOTE: Thousands of nervous people, men and women, are using Ovaltine to restore vitality when fatigued. During the World War, medical authorities made it a standard ration for rebuilding nerve-shattered [illegible] soldiers. It is also highly [illegible]

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

At Packham Hall

AS Caroline followed a tall young footman up the imposing staircase of Packham hall, she looked about her with interest. She had not been in the house since she was a little girl.

The footman handed her over to Mrs. Van Berg's maid. Caroline came back to the present with a jerk and took a good look at the "lnting lassy." She saw a middle-sized person of very [illegible] appearance with a manner nicely attuned to what might at any moment become a house of mourning.

As they turned into a long corridor, one of Elmer Van Berg's nurses passed them, going in the direction of the [illegible], a pretty, rather hard-featured girl with bright blue eyes. They turned again. Louise opened a door and announced "Miss Leigh."

Caroline passed into the small sitting-room and heard the door softly closed behind her.

The room was very warm, that was Caroline's first impression. It was like coming into a hot-house. There was a fire on the hearth and a scent of pastilles in the air. Though it was not yet 6 o'clock, the old, wet daylight had been shut out. Two lamps with pale blue shades filled the room with a light that was rather like moonlight.

The room was most unmistakably that of a pretty, spoilt woman.

Susie Van Berg lay on a couch in front of the fire, banked up with cushions. There was a silver cushion under her head, a pale pink pouffe behind her shoulders, and a three-cornered violet cushion just slipping to the floor as she made a startled movement.

Caroline was startled too. She didn't know what she had expected, but not this. The setting was so elaborate, so artificial. Susie Van Berg herself looked like some one in a play. She wore one of those garments one sees in catalogs—frilled, beflowered, embroidered georgette pyjamas in pale blue shading to green, with a satin coat to match.

But the eyes which she fixed on Caroline as she made that movement to rise were the eyes of a frightened child. A dry, hot hand clung to hers, and the voice that she had heard on the telephone said:

"Caroline Leigh?"

Caroline nodded.

"Won't you sit down? Where will you sit? Come here beside me on the sofa so we needn't talk loud." She slipped her feet off the couch as she spoke, pulling herself into a sitting position.

CAROLINE took off her tweed coat and sat down.

"It was very good of you to come," said Susie Van Berg. She spoke as if she had not quite enough breath for what she wanted to say.

Caroline saw her with compassion. It was obvious that she had wept bitterly during the last few days; her eyes had a drowned and faded look. Her hands kept plucking at one another, and from time to time a nervous tremor shook her. Yet her nails were carefully reddened, her pale hair immaculately set, and her lips made up in an artificial curve. She had a lost, tormented look.

Caroline's soft heart was a good deal moved. She put her hand on the twisting, plucking fingers and said:

"What can I do for you, Mrs. Van Berg?"

Susie Van Berg drew her hands away.

"It doesn't matter—nothing matters. Why did you come?"

"You wanted to see me."

"Yes—it was good of you. But it's no use—nothing's any use."

There was a pause while Caroline tried to think of something to say. What could she say to unhappiness like this? She didn't know.

Susie Van Berg flung round with outstretched hands.

"What shall I do if Elmer dies?"

"Perhaps he won't."

"But if he does—if he does!"

SHE jumped up with a sudden surprising energy, ran to the door and opened it. For a moment she stood looking out into the corridor. Then she came back, her blue wrap trailing, her hand at her side, and a faint tinge of natural color in her face.

"There's no one there," she said, and sank back into the sofa corner again. After a moment she said, "Louise listens—I think she talks—I suppose they all talk. I am afraid to speak, you know. There are the doctors and the nurses, and the servants, and the police. I'm afraid all the time of saying something—something—"

"Why?" said Caroline. She looked straight into Susie Van Berg's frightened eyes; her voice was steady and deep.

Susie went on speaking in a desperate, fluttered voice.

"It's awful not to have any one to speak to. That's why I asked you to come."

"Did Jim talk to you about me?" Susie nodded.

"He talked about you a lot—he thought the world of you—he wanted us to meet. Men are funny like that—if two women are fond of them, they can't see why they won't be fond of each other. Elmer's like that too."

A little animation had come to her as she talked, but with the last word a nervous shudder took her again.

"What is it?" said Caroline gently.

"I felt I'd go mad if I hadn't someone to speak to. I thought you would be safe because, whatever I told you, you wouldn't want to hurt Jim."

"Jim—"

Susie looked at her out of pale eyes and whispered:

"[illegible] Elmer."

Caroline straightened herself. She said, "Nonsense," and her own voice comforted her and made her feel sure that what Susie had just said could not possibly be true.

Susie shook her head.

"You don't know. He was jealous—[illegible] jealous of Jim. It was [illegible]. You said nonsense, didn't you? That was all it was [illegible] to be punished like this [illegible] for a lot of nonsense [illegible]. Elmer wouldn't want [illegible] punished like this!"

"[illegible]?" said Caroline.

A DAY of much promise for promotion and preferment is indicated by the lunar transits. It is a time for seeking these, since employers, superiors and those in authority will be found ready to meet approach with a kindly and listening ear. Some change or travel may be involved in this fair stroke of fortune, although it would be well to act with precaution in connection with mergers, rings or secret organizations, or in intriguing or diplomatic deals.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of advancement or preferment if in employment and others may approach those of power and prestige with assurance of winning their friendly cooperation. But be careful with combines, rings or secret bodies, lest intrigue or strategem prove perilous. They may find the year one of stabilized fortune, with increased position and possessions.

A child born on this day may be industrious, ambitious but probably inclined to curious or mystical pursuits or avocations, with leanings to intrigues.

BY HELEN ROWLAND

PASS THE ORCHIDS.

There ought to be a preparatory school for prospective husbands and wives, with a special course in flattery—or passing the "orchids."

They could teach it with a chart, showing all the tender spots in a man's self-esteem and all the sensitive places in a woman's nervous system and her vanity. There ought to be recipes for giving compliments as well as for making pancakes.

More "orchids," as Winchell calls them, and fewer "scallions" in the home—more compliments and fewer criticisms—would prevent hundreds of divorces, and make it necessary for gigolos and golddiggers to go to work for a living.

Most people who break their marriage ties are simply starving for a little applause, and are terribly fed up on advice and criticism. What we need is somebody to tell us how brilliant we are, and how young and beautiful we look, every 24 hours. Somebody to keep our inferiority complex down to zero and our self-esteem up to par.

The medieval kings and queens had the right idea. They paid courtiers and "favorites" to flatter them and laugh at their jokes and nourish their vanity and self-complacency. No wonder they thought they were divinely sent.

It is not hard for a sychoanalist to discover your particular inferiority complex. But curing it is a feat which requires time and skill. Passing out the orchids might prove a very profitable profession if somebody would take it up in a serious way. We pay a good psychoanalist big money for telling us what's the matter with us; but most of us would gladly pay a cheer-leader twice as much for telling us there's nothing the matter with us.

A husband or a wife is supposed to be your most ardent admirer, and therefore your natural booster. But it seldom works that way. A husband is so busy trying to "improve" his wife, or a wife is so busy telling her husband something "for his own good," that married life is sometimes just a bowl of "scallions."

The truth is that the average husband and wife are terribly afraid they may make each other conceited. Even when they do pass other a compliment or an "orchid," it usually comes so wrapped up in a lot of "wholesome advice" that you don't recognize it.

Where's the thrill in being told that you have a really brilliant mind "if you'd only concentrate it on your work or something worth while"? And where's the kick in being told that you have a gorgeous head of hair "if you'd just stop wrecking it with permanents and making it that awful color?"

That's where false friends and gold-diggers shine by comparison and get in their fine work. Everybody needs a cheer-leader. Everybody needs somebody to keep up his (or her) courage and self-confidence—to help him bluff himself! But flattery and cheer-leading, like charity, should begin at home.

Most of us marry in order to get a booster—not to get a critic! Pass the orchids! They don't cost a penny! (Copyright, 1933, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Given in Marriage

BY ADELE GARRISON

Sounds of a scuffle in the library and Harry Underwood's tense cry of warning halt Madge and her father at the door.

JIM hesitated perceptibly when my father asked him if he knew the voice he thought he had heard talking to Harry Underwood. But his next words proved that there was real bewilderment back of his silence, instead of any desire to protect us from news he thought might be distasteful to us.

"I've been trying to think, ever since I heard it," he said in puzzled fashion. "It seemed as though I ought to know it, as if I'd heard it before somewhere, but I guess I never did. Why! I couldn't even tell if it were a man's voice or a woman's. And sometimes it even sounded as if it were trying to sing!"

Fantastic conjectures were swaying me, but my father's voice was as noncommittal as if he were making some comment upon a new baby.

Madge Insist Upon Entering

"Very interesting, if your impressions are correct," he said. "And we'll lose no time in following Mr. Underwood's instructions. By the way, did he say anything about Mrs. Graham?"

"No, he didn't mention her, sir," Jim replied.

My father considered a second, palpably at a loss, then he put another terse query.

"Where is Mrs. Underwood?"

"I haven't seen her lately, sir, but Katie said she was upstairs with the children."

My father utered a little ejaculation of satisfaction, then he turned to me doubtingly.

"Frankly, I don't know what to do with you," he said slowly. "I don't quite like to send you upstairs to your room until I know who is in the house, and I can't take you into the library until I know what conditions are there."

"Why can't you?" I demanded spiritedly. "There can't be any real danger in that room, or Harry would have warned you definitely against bringing me into it. The fact that he did not mention my name proves he has no need for concern over my safety. Besides, with you and Harry and Jim on the job, no possible harm can come to me.

Katie Interrupts

"Please don't treat me as if I were a sheltered baby, father! All this concerns me very intimately. I must take my share of whatever comes."

My father looked at me searchingly.

"You are right," he said. "I must let you take your share of the burden. But oh, my darling, how I would love to keep every adverse wind from blowing upon you."

A weird figure in brightly colored pajamas with beach sandals upon her feet, came toward us across the veranda, and Katie's voice said shrilly:

"Missis Graham; dot you?"

Jim whirled on her angrily.

"What do you mean by coming out here in these things, before Mr. Spencer and Mrs. Graham?" he demanded. "You look as if they'd let you out from the [illegible]."

Katie put her hands on her waist, her arms akimbo and voluminous pajamas fluttering in the breeze. Her lips were curled in a scornful smile, but her eyes were wrathful.

The Struggle

"And who [illegible] of telling me vot I should wear und vot I take off?" she said. "I member [illegible] got married [illegible] und they [illegible] honey, und I didn't hear nobody say [illegible] promise [illegible] everything dot Katie vear und make [illegible] about [illegible]. Und Katie [illegible] room und ask your [illegible] advice every time you go buy a pair of pajamas.

"Maybe preacher he say something like dot, but I no hear eet. Und vot I don't hear me, I don't do noddings mit. So yo ushoost put dot in your pipe und smoke eet. I no vant to talk to you any vays. I vant ask my Meesis Graham something, und you keep her vaiting mit your beeg mouf! Oh! Po—[illegible] Meesis [illegible] Vot's dot?"

From the library had come the sound of a crashing blow, [illegible] Harry Underwood's [illegible], low, but distinct:

DO YOU SUFFER PAIN?

YOUNG women who suffer from monthly pains, weakening drains, or headaches, side aches, and women of middle age who suffer from heat flashes, nervousness, should take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Mrs. Dora Braboit of Lansing [illegible] says: "I was so nervous I could get but little rest and felt exhausted most of the time. Added to this suffering I had pains in my back that gave me much trouble, also headaches, and I felt rundown in general. I took one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and in no time at all I was enjoying perfect health."

Write to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.

Keep on the good side of your digestion

Cook with CRISCO . . . the pure quick-digesting vegetable fat

SUE OVERHEARS
The happy bridegroom doesn't look very happy—
Oh, Sue's a dear but something's wrong with her cooking. Poor Bill just lives on soda mints.

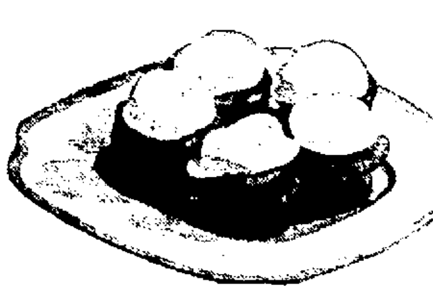
SUE ASKS BILL'S MOTHER
Do you think I ought to stop giving Bill fried foods and pies?
No, dear. But do use Crisco as your cooking fat. It's so light and wholesome, that it digests quickly.
Crisco

A MONTH LATER
I haven't had to take a soda mint in a month—that's how good a cook you are!
Well, I'm wiser now. I never knew what a difference it would make—just to change to Crisco.

Don't abuse your stomach with heavy indigestible pie-crust or greasy fried foods. Protect your digestion by cooking with Crisco—the light creamy vegetable fat. Crisco digests quickly—doesn't over-load your stomach!

So do play safe. Cook with Crisco, the pure vegetable fat! Because it's so sweet and creamy, naturally it gives you foods that digest quickly. Crisco pie-crust is light and flaky—Crisco-fried foods are crispy—they have that "dry-fried" look that tells you the food isn't grease-soaked and indigestible!

Crisco is made from pure vegetable oils by Crisco's own secret process. This is why Crisco keeps wholesome and sweet-tasting as long as there's a spoonful left in the can!



COTTON TOPS

5 tablespoons Crisco (the digestible shortening)
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1⅓ cups flour
2¼ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons cocoa
½ teaspoon cinnamon
⅔ cup milk
halved marshmallows

Blend the Crisco with the sugar and egg in one easy stirring. Crisco blends easily because it comes to you creamed in the can. Sift the dry ingredients and add them alternately with the milk to the Crisco mixture. Pour in Criscoed muffin pans until they are two-thirds full. Bake in moderately hot oven (375°F.) about 20 minutes. Just before removing from oven, place a halved marshmallow on top of each cake. Leave in oven only until marshmallows melt slightly.

CRISCO
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.
digests quickly

At the Star Cooking School, Mrs. Ruth Campbell used and recommended CRISCO, the modern, quick-digesting shortening.

GRATIFYING reports from the many users of Hepatic Triticum continues to grow. We announced some time back that we would publish the results from those who use Hepatic Triticum. As this being a new remedy on the market for those suffering from Auto Intoxication (self-poisoning) we can truthfully say at this time that the report of recoveries up to the present date, that for the short period of time that it has been sold to the public this remedy's record exceeds anything like it that has ever been sold by our store.

WE are making it an Iron Clad rule not to publish any testimonial unless it be those we personally know, or unless an extremely thorough investigation proves to us beyond any reasonable doubt to be absolutely truthful. We are now very pleased to publish one from our neighborhood Charles P. Ackerman, a man whom we have known for years and whose truthfulness is irrefutable.

To Whom It May Concern

I wish to express my personal opinion on your new remedy known as Hepatic Triticum. On or about two weeks ago I was suffering with dizziness with pain in the liver region, accompanied with vomiting. In fact I had suffered with dizziness for a long period of time. I was advised to try your Lower's Hepatic Triticum, that probably my trouble could be caused by Auto Intoxication (self-poisoning). I wish to anounce to my friends and others that may be similarly affected. Please remember Lower's Hepatic Triticum as I am highly pleased with the improvement in my case.

Yours very respectively,
Charles P. Ackerman,

WHEAT SCORES LATE ADVANCE

Lively Gains Appear on Reports of Government Sponsored Buying.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 27—Wheat made [illegible] advances in price late today [illegible] reports that United States government sponsored purchases on wheat had been resumed.

The reports of a renewal of federal wheat activities were apparently due to buying of car lots of wheat in Chicago and St Louis for the farmers national grain corporation. A further advance of the Washington gold price fell flat as [illegible] influence.

Wheat closed strong at nearly the day's top, 3⅝@3¾ above yesterday's finish, corn ⅞@1⅛ up, oats 1⅛@1½ advanced, and provisions at 2 cents to 12 cents decline.

Failure of buying to follow advances in wheat prices resulted soon in reactions after the market had risen about 1½ cents from the early low point. Thereafter, wheat and other grains hovered uneasily around the closing figures of yesterday.

Corn and oats derived relative firmness from the fact that offerings of corn to arrive from rural sources were meager.

Provisions tended upward responsive to the course of hog values.

2 MEN FACING MURDER TRIAL

Wick Patton, 29, and Brother Troy, 19, Returned To Kenton for Trial.

Special to The Star

KENTON, Oct. 27—Wick Patton, 29, and his brother Troy, 19, were returned to Kenton Thursday afternoon by county officials to face a second degree murder indictment returned in September, 1931 as result of the fatal stabbing of William Burd, 32, on the night of Aug. 30, 1931. Calvin Montgomery, 24, third youth named in the indictment, has not been located.

The Patton brothers were arrested in Mag[illegible] county, Ky., Tuesday and were released to Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Norman and assistants of Kenton. They were immediately served with copies of the indictment and are to be arraigned before Judge Hamilton E. Hoge, probably Saturday morning.

Burd, who died in McKitrick hospital here on the morning of Aug. 31, 1931 was stabbed to death. He named Troy Patton as the knife wielder but Herbert Carder, who was assisting Burd in the free for all fight which preceded the stabbing, said he thought Montgomery used the knife.

The fight occurred at Burd's home west of Kenton while his wife bride of a month, looked on. Mrs. Burd recently married her husband's friend, Herbert Carder. When the case goes to trial both of them, Anna Mullins and Charles Hamilton, all witnesses of the fight, will be called to testify.

Osmium, heaviest of the commoner metals, outweighs magnesium the lightest, by about 14 times, being twice as heavy as lead.
